SNAPPY YELLOW BIBS

Lucas Valley Wives Will Help Husbands Reach Fires Quickly

By PAT PERRY

Talk in the car pool often centered around the lack of fire protection for the expensive suburban homes the commuters were leaving behind.

Out of those morning and evening car pool discussions was born the Lucas Valley Volunteer Fire Assn. last year.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Talk in the neighborhood lately centers on the disastrous fire in March when a seven year old girl burned to death in one of these homes. Out of that talk another offspring is aborning-the Lucas Valley Volunteer Fire Assn. Women's Auxiliary Traffic Aides.

It's a long title for a simple duty.

Wearing snappy yellow coveralls, and blowing whistles the gals of the auxilliary will keep cars and kids out of the way when their husbands are fighting fires.

EIGHT MONTHS

The auxilliary has been in existence some eight months with their activities primarily confined to fund raising. But members were frustrated . . . Carolyn Whitaker, whose husband is president of the Fire Assn. explained:

"In the Fong fire (when Rebecca Fong, 7, died in a blazing home at 9 Mount Rainier Drive) there was so much traffic and so many children the firemen had difficulties.

"In other fires our husbands have been to there's always been chaos from cars and children. The women kept saying they felt so frustrated that there was no way to control things, even though they're members of the fire association."

So the women are now organized into a proper traffic aide group. Marin County Fire Department Chief, Louis J. Bloom — who all along has helped and guided the association — gave advice. Thursday evening 20 women heard a lecture from a deputy sheriff on traffic control.

"We've organized as much as we can," said Mrs. Whitaker. "When the fire alarm is sounded, the women will leave their children with neighbors, as previously arranged, and we hope to get to the scene of the fire as soon as our husbands, who'll actually be fighting the fire."

Fire is a very present problem for the residents of the 400 homes in Upper Lucas Valley.

Their fire insurance rates are high. The handsome open-plan glass walled houses are notorious for exploding into a conflagration. They do not—as do other Eichler home owners lower in the Valley—belong to the Marinwood Community Services District.

"We have seriously considered joining Marinwood Community Services District," said Mrs. Whitaker. "They're anxious to have us. But after a series of meetings it was decided not to."

The Lucas Valley Volunteer Fire Assn., was formed last fall, a non-profit making corporation. Right now there are about 20 volunteer firemen, each outfitted in $50 worth of red helmet, yellow coat and boots.

TWICE A MONTH

The firemen train twice a month with county firemen and equipment in the Marin County Fire Department's substation on the old county farm nearby.

Financing the association hasn't been a problem: A fund raising campaign raked in plenty of money to equip the volunteers, when a vast majority of home-owners in the Eichler estate paid $5 or more to become members.

Currently a fire alarm is

Unmanned Return From Moon Set

TOKYO (UPI) —Russia will land an unmanned space vehicle on the moon and bring it back to earth before trying a manned flight, visiting Soviet cosmonaut Lt. Col. Vladimir Komarov said in a statement published today.

Komarov, quoted by The Asahi Evening News, said the unmanned expedition would be followed by a space dog to the moon. He added he was certain a Russian would still be the first man on the moon.

Komarov, who is heading a 107-member Russian delegation to the Second Russo-Japanese youth festival at Lake Yamanaka, was captain of the three-man Soviet Voskhod I.

Animal Group Asks Nobel For Disney

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican Animal Protection Society announced yesterday it will back an Argentine proposal to award the Nobel Peace Prize to moviemaker Walt Disney.

A spokesman said the Argentine Animal Protection Society came up with the suggestion, and the Mexican society has written to Buenos Aires, promising all possible backing.

Ark Owner Complaints To Be Aired

The State Lands Commission, meeting in Los Angeles tomorrow, is due to hear some complaints from Marin County ark owners.

Mrs. J. W. Hugus of Richmond, owner of one of the arks north of Bon Air Bridge, has written the commission in "bitter protest to the rank injustice you people are dishing out to the owners of the ark sites."

Lease for the state land where her ark is moored is to be increased nearly 600 per cent by the commission. Tomorrow's hearing is on the rent increase.

Mrs. Hugus has also written Gov. Edmund G. Brown charging that ark owners "have been given a bad time by the state lands commission." She has written to ask help from state controller Alan Cranston.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, in whose district the arks lie, said again today that he was not aware some were on Catholic Church land rather than state land, although all have leases to the state.

Supervisors Tuesday asked public works director Donald R. Frost and a deputy county counsel to attend tomorrow's hearing to make sure the position of the ark owners is told.

Power Failure Hits Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A massive power blackout switched off electricity and air conditioners through much of Nebraska today and cut off water supplies in the capital city of Lincoln.

A heat wave had temperatures simmering in the 90s when the electricity went off from Eastern Nebraska to McCook, in extreme southwest Nebraska.

Populous Sioux City, Iowa, was hit by what officials described as a voltage drop. Neighboring South Sioux City, Neb., was blacked out.

Phantom Jet, Skyhawk Down In Red Firing

Infantrymen Chase Viet Cong Troops Over Cambodia Line

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Air Force and Navy planes struck three more oil depots during 88 missions over Communist North Viet Nam, U.S. military spokesmen reported today.

Communist gunners brought down one American plane, an Air Force F-4 Phantom, but its two-man crew was quickly rescued. An A-4 Skyhawk from the carrier USS Constellation was missing and presumed down.

PLANES SINK BOAT

Two land-based Skyhawks sank an armed Communist motor vessel with Zuni rockets and 20 millimeter cannon shells as the boat raced toward the two airmen eight miles off the coast. An Air Force Albatross rescue plane picked up the downed pilots within 20 minutes after they parachuted into the sea.

The United States lost four helicopters in the South and four U.S. servicemen were killed in one of the crashes.

American infantrymen who killed 238 Communist troops in a running battle 60 miles north of Saigon during the weekend had difficulty today finding members of the Viet Cong force which fled into jungle near the Cambodian border under heavy pounding.

NEAR DONG HOI

The petroleum storage areas pounded yesterday by the Navy and Air Force bombers were situated 130 miles west-northwest of Hanoi, 20 miles north-northwest of the Panhandle port of Dong Hoi and another 32 miles north-northwest of coastal Vinh.

A U.S. Marine CH-34 Choctaw helicopter was forced down last night with mechnical trouble 12 miles west of Chu Lai, 350 miles north of Saigon. Another Choctaw coming to its rescue was knocked down by Viet Cong ground fire

A third Choctaw was brought down today but U.S. spokesmen said no Americans were killed in the series of mishaps and one chopper was recovered.

An Army Iroquois helicopter was shot down deep in the Mekong delta, 18 miles southwest of Ca Mau, and the four Americans aboard killed.

Hamilton Helps In Air Strike

Top priority travelers are those returning from Viet Nam. Flights from Hamilton pick the men up at Travis Air Force Base, where they arrive from Saigon, and transport them in plane loads of about 100 men each to their destinations. Three such flights have been flown since Saturday, headquarters of the airlift group reported.

AIRLINE MEETING GETTING NOWHERE

Union Man Charges Companies Sitting On Profits; Heavy Load On Other Lines

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said today "no progress" was made at this morning's negotiations aimed at ending a machinists union strike against five major airlines.

Wirtz spoke to newsmen when the negotiations recessed for lunch.

Asked whether he saw a possibility of White House intervention to end the strike that started last Friday, he said, "there is no consideration of direct presidential intervention at this point."

Today's session had opened on an acrimonious note.

Joseph Ramsey, vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and chief union negotiator, entered the conference room and said:

"The public should know that there hasn't been five minutes of real negotiating since this strike started.

"Union members on the airlines are asking to share in the profits.

"After all these years when they have accepted substandard conditions, airline employees are entitled to a better deal."

Ramsey handed out mimeographed copies of the statement but declined to elaborate on it, saying, "We better get on with the job."

William J. Curtin, chief negotiator for the five struck airlines—Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United —arrived in the hallway as Ramsey was speaking, and listened before entering a separate conference room.

Asked for comment, Curtin said:

"We have endorsed the emergency board recommendations which the President himself characterized as the framework for a just settlement of the dispute, and we have improved upon it in our negotiations."

Ticket agents and reservation clerks of unstruck carriers worked double shifts and many were pressed into duty on their days off.

During fruitless weekend negotiations, officials of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists met in one conference room in the basement of the Labor Department building, airline officials in another.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, who shuttled between the two rooms,

Marine Captain In Jet

The 34-year-old Danison, a Pacific Air Lines first officer in civilian life, took off from Alameda Naval Air Station in his A-4B Skyhawk at 12:30 p.m. on a training flight to Fallon, Nev. He began his annual two-week reserve duty yesterday.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Cause of the crash is unknown. A witness reported that he heard an explosion before the single-seat jet crashed. First reports of the crash came from an unidentified helicopter pilot.

Navy and Marine search parties and forest rangers reached the wreckage late yesterday near Tilden Lake, about 35 miles east of Sonora. Officers of an investigative board left this morning to inspect the wreckage.

Danison had just been selected for promotion to major, according to the Navy.

ACTIVE DUTY

Danison served on active duty in the Marines from 1955 to 1958, when he joined Pacific Airlines.

A native of Akron, Ohio, Danison lived in Ross about four years.

He is survived by his wife, Joan; a son, Larry, 16; a daughter, Julie, 2; his mother, Mrs. Irene D. Danison of Akron; his father, Mervyn Danison, of Detroit, Mich., and a brother, Mervyn Danison Jr., of Akron.

Supervisors Toss Some Hot Words

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Supervisors Thomas T. Storer returned to County Board of Equalization hearings today and entered at once into a hot exchange with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Storer opened the discussion with a request for policy clarification on the hearings, declaring that 90 per cent of the hearings last year were not before the full board.

"Without any warning you simply were not here for a briefing last Wednesday," Kettenhofen said. "I think that's abdicating your duty to your fellow board members."

Storer tried to break in with a reply, but Kettenhofen insisted on carrying on.

"I'm surprised, Mr. Storer! This is a five-member board and we do have a duty to each other if we are to pull as a team. If we're not working as a team, that's fine, but I'd like to know about it."

"That's the most sanctimonious bit of drivel I've ever listened to," Storer declared.

Storer said other board members were well aware that he planned to go to Eureka Wednesday to attend a meeting Thursday of the Eel River Assn.

Kettenhofen said Storer did not tell anyone he would be absent Wednesday morning.

"No one told me about the arks, either," Storer said, referring to the revelation Wednesday that portions of some Corte Madera Creek arks to be taken for flood control work are on Catholic Church rather than state land.

"Saying you didn't know about that almost shows incompetency," Kettenhofen retorted. The arks are in Storer's supervisorial district.

"I think this is getting out of hand," Supervisor William A. Gnoss said, trying to calm things down.

"It's been out of hand for a year and a half," Storer declared.

"If it has, you've been the greatest contributor to it," Kettenhofen shot back.

McNamara Claims $14 Billion Saved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says his cost-reduction program has saved the taxpayers $14 billion over the past five years — $4.5 billion last year alone.

McNamara made the figures public last night in a report on his program. He noted that the savings had been made "despite the extraordinary demands of our military operations in Southeast Asia."

McNamara scheduled a midafternoon news conference today to discuss the report.

There are three main principles in McNamara's cost-reduction program. He listed them as:

"Buying only what we need" —fiscal 1966 savings $1.6 billion.

"Reducing operating costs through the termination of unnecessary operations, standardization and consolidation" — $1.6 billion.

In his report to the President, McNamara also indicated possible cutbacks in defense buying which has been inflated by the widening U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

The secretary said "the tendency to overfinance and overorder is especially prevalent when our forces are actually engaged in combat.

"We came out of the Korean war, for example, with about $12 billion of surplus stock on hand — we hope to avoid a similar waste of national resources during the Vietnamese conflict."

Modernization Of U.N. Asked By GOP Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans proposed today six steps to strengthen and modernize the United Nations, including a special 1,000-man brigade of technicians and experts for emergency peacekeeping.

The proposals were included in a report adopted by the Republican Coordinating Committee at a meeting June 27-28 and released today.

The report criticized what it called the decline of U.S. leadership in the United Nations as "but another measure of the opportunities thrown away by the present administration."

"ACHIEVE SUPPORT"

Saying the United Nations should have "the active support of the people and the government of the United States," the report added:

"Republicans take a realistic view of what the United Nations can and cannot do. We do not believe, as do some, that it is a panacea for the problems of the world; nor do we believe it works against our national interest. Experience has shown that the U.N. on many occasions has been useful in easing international tensions and in implementing our own foreign policy objectives."

ADVISER'S GROUP

The report recommended consideration of these points to strengthen and modernize the organization:

Expansion of the military advisers' group in the office of the secretary-general.

A plan proposed by several GOP members of Congress to create "a first brigade of 1,000 technicians and logistical experts in a peacekeeping force" for use in emergencies.

Some means of recognizing the fact that certain nations contribute more than others while preserving the basic principle of equality of states.

FINANCE SYSTEM

Screening applications for membership to determine whether the applicant state "can support the full responsibilities of membership" and establishing a special status in the United Nations for certain small independent units that could not support full membership responsibilities.

An all-out effort to set up a dependable system for financing the organization.

Action by the administration to call a conference of U.N. members to modernize the organization's charter, including measures to solve the organizational, administrative and financial problems of the United Nations and what the report referred to as re-establishment of the leadership role of the United States as a "major creative force" within the organization.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Socialists Gain In West Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's political stock rose today after his Socialist party scored big election gains in West Germany's richest and most populous state.

Brandt

The outcome of the balloting yesterday in North Rhine-Westphalia dealt a sharp blow to the prestige of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, whose Christian Democrats lost 10 seats in the state Parliament.

The ruling coalition of Christian Democrats and Free Democrats emerged with the barest majority of 101 of the 200 seats.

The Socialists picked up nine seats from the Christian Democrats. With 99 seats in Parliament, they are now the strongest single party in the state. The Free Democrats took one Christian Democrat seat, winning 15, and the Christian Democrats dropped from 96 to 86 seats.

Heinz Kuehn, 45-year-old journalist turned politician, headed the Socialist ticket but Brandt, 52, was generally credited for the victory because of his oratory and tireless campaigning.

Hirohito's Good-Bye

Red Leader Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander P. Rudakov, 55, a secretary of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, died yesterday following a long illness. He headed the committee's heavy-industry department and was a deputy in the Supreme Soviet Parliament.

French Uranium

PARIS (UPI) — France will be producing enough high quality enriched uranium within less than a year to begin constructing its first H-bomb, the French Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

392-Day Fast Ends

DUNDEE, Scotland (UPI) — Angus Barbieri had breakfast today, ending a 392-day fast which consisted of little more than an occasional spot of tea. He lost 293 pounds in the process. Barbieri, 26, had a boiled egg, a slice of bread and a cup of tea with sugar to end his rigorous diet which began on June 13, 1965. Barbieri now weights 179.

Loss For Hull House

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP) —Miss Jessie Binford, 90, called "the conscience of Chicago" in her more than 60 years with that city's famed settlement house, Hull House, died Saturday. She left her native Marshalltown for Chicago in 1902 after hearing Hull House's director, Jane Addams, lecture on social issues.

Tito Visits India

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Marshal Tito met with Mrs. Indira Gandhi today for a second round of talks before the Indian prime minister carried her Viet Nam peace campaign to Moscow. The official news agency Tanjug said the talks resumed in Tito's vacation residence on the Adriatic island of Brioni.

India Rounds Up Reds On Threat

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government rounded up more leftists today in Uttar Pradesh, India's most populous state, in an effort to prevent a threatened general strike. More than 500 persons were put behind bars.

The strike was called for tomorrow by leftists seeking to show their strength against Prime Minister Indira Gandhi with a massive demonstration against her economic policies.

Among those jailed were Jyoti Basu, India's top ranking pro-Peking Communist, at least one member of Parliament, and several state legislators.

King Posts Civil Rights Demands On Door Of Chicago's City Hall

The posting came after a heat-defying antislum rally in Chicago's Soldier Field and a traffic-halting march through the Loop. Better housing, more jobs and better schools were among the demands.

Earlier, King linked arms with civil rights leaders, including Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Ra- some 35,000 that the concept of black power had been misinterpreted, that it meant only that Negroes "have a right to determine their own futures."

He called for a "united black consumer bloc that would be cial Equality, to form a common front in the struggle for Negro equality.

McKissick, who at first had said he might not be able to attend the rally, told the crowd of able to strike at any concern," and ended his speech with a pledge to come to Dr. King's aid at any time — "He's my brother," McKissick said.

King recently has been in disagreement with McKissick and other advocates of black power.

James H. Meredith, first known Negro graduate of the University of Mississippi, who was wounded during a recent march to Jackson, Miss., told the rally that all civil rights groups must join to fight "the system of white supremacy."

The slogan "black power" was seen in crudely painted signs, and heard in the chants of clutches of young Negroes and in the words of some of the many speakers at the rally.

Before King spoke, 150 persons delayed the rally several minutes when they paraded about the center of the field crying "black power!" and waving signs. One sign read "We Shall Overcome" and carried a picture of a machine gun. Some of the group identified themselves as members of the Blackstone Rangers, a teen-age gang on the South Side.

TEEN-AGE GROUP

King told the crowd:

"Within the white community there exists a substantial group of white Americans who cherish democratic principles above the privilege, and who have demonstrated a will to fight with the Negro against injustice.

"The Negro needs the white man to free him from his fears. The white man needs the Negro to free him from his guilt.

NO VIOLENCE

"I must reaffirm that I do not seek the answer to our problems in violence. Our movement's adherence to nonviolence has been a major factor in the creation of a moral climate that has made progress possible.

"This climate may well be dissipated not only by acts of violence, but by the threat of it verbalized by those who equate it with militancy."

Then King added:

"Our power does not exist in Molotov cocktails, rifles, knives and bricks. Our power is in our unity, the force of our souls and the determination of our bodies."

Tornadoes, Thunderstorms Scream In Midwest States

CHICAGO (UPI) —Tornadoes and violent thunderstorms packing winds up to 80 miles an hour screamed across the Midwest last night and early today, causing considerable damage.

The midsummer night's storms stretched from Iowa and Wisconsin across northern Illinois into Indiana and Michigan. Power lines were ripped down in scores of communities. More than 30,000 homes were without power during the night in Chicago alone.

Shortly after 3:30 a.m. EDT, the weather bureau announced the level of Lake Michigan had dropped severely on the Michigan side of the lake and warned of a seiche —or drastic rise in water level —along the Chicago lakefront.

However, at 6 a.m. EDT the weather bureau issued an all-clear, but said possible fluctuations in the water level could still occur.

The Midwest storms filled the night with thunder. Lights flickered, and then went out in Chicago suburbs as trees crashed to the street and power lines snapped. A Commonwealth Edison spokesman said Chicago itself was "hard hit" by power failures.

Battery Cools New Hope For Surveyor I

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The long, cool shadows of evening have proved a tonic for America's ailing Surveyor I spacecraft, giving the spider-like device another chance, perhaps, to photograph sunset on the moon.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the 620-pound craft's battery — thought to be on the verge of death Friday — had cooled enough to allow new sequences of photos, perhaps tomorrow.

The battery temperature soared to 140 degrees Friday night, close to the melting point, but had since cooled slowly to 115 degrees, "well within operating limits," said project director Robert J. Parks.

Still a puzzle is why the temperature dropped to the normal range. Earlier it was theorized that a short circuit caused the overheating.

15 Dogs Killed

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Police today sought the person or persons responsible for the deaths of at least 15 dogs during the weekend. Officers said the killer apparently drove through an area about three miles square, tossing hamburger laced with pure strychnine on to various front lawns.

Cabin Cruiser Gasoline Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sunday fishermen lined the Hyde Street pier as the cabin cruiser Rose Marie took on a load of gasoline.

A sudden explosion riped through the 35-foot boat, hurling two fishermen together 10 feet in the air and forcing two more into San Francisco Bay to escape gas-fed flames.

All were treated for minor injuries at Harbor Emergency Hospital and then released.

"Those fish will just have to wait until next time," said one survivor, Cyril Quinn, 73, "I could use a drink."

Educators Aren't Exactly Happy Over National Assessment Program

California educators — along with those of 49 other states — are in somewhat of a tizzy over the national education assessment program, which has been authorized for next year by the U. S. Office of Education.

This program, underwritten by Carnegie and Ford foundations grants, is to assess the over-all picture of accomplishment of American schools by a series of tests in the basic fields of elementary and high school education, given in a selected sample of schools. At least, that is its announced purpose.

RALPH W. TYLER, director of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University, is in charge. At the American Assn. of School Administrators' convention in Atlantic City this year, he gave assurance that (1) no test score of an individual student will be incorporated, (2) the assessment results will not be used in any attempt by the federal government to control curricula, and (3) it will not serve to set up any pattern of teaching. "It should be made clear that the project will assess what children, youth and adults have learned, not how they have learned it," he said.

Francis Keppel, who as U. S. commissioner of education started the ball rolling for the assessment program, pointed to the need for nation-wide assessment in these words:

"The U. S. Office of Education can report on . . . how many teachers we have, how many school children, how many buildings, and possibly whether the buildings are painted or not. But as yet we do not know how much our children really know, the subjects in which they are weak or strong, the relation between income levels and learning, or a host of other matters."

THIS IS THE information the sampling procedure will seek.

Many educators, however, remain opposed to the entire project.

When it was discussed at last year's White House Conference on Education, William Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Assn., contended that American education is being assessed "every day by those who should continue to do it, the teachers in the classroom. We should not substitute a national assessment for this."

HE PRESUMABLY spoke for his organization, which counts as members the great majority of teachers and administrators in public schools of the United States. That he did so is borne out by less - than - enthusiastic resolutions by several NEA affiliates, which do not come out flatly against the national program but are loaded heavily with words of caution.

Most of the opposition seems to arise from fears that the results of the assessment will be misused.

California educators are particularly touchy about test results since publication last year of district-by-district results of state-wide pupil achievement tests. There was anguished outcry from the California Teachers Assn. over that.

"Public misinterpretation of test results . . . was devastating to faculty morale and pupil pride in some low-scoring districts where the state's most heroic teaching efforts are being exerted," claimed CTA president Fred Clark.

SINCE STATE - BY - STATE comparisons may be possible from the national assessment, perhaps educators fear similar "devastating" effects from it.

Lindley Stiles, dean of the school of education at University of Wisconsin, retorted to critics at the White House conference: "What are we afraid of? We compare people on physical fitness, color blindness, mental retardation and other traits. Why not compare them on academic achievement? The NEA assesses states on their treatment of teachers and applies sanctions to those which fail to measure up."

THE RELIABILITY of whatever tests are used in the national assessment is, of course, subject to question—particularly if they turn out to be the punch-card-graded "multiple choice" tests so widely used in the schools.

Could it be that teachers are willing to have students' performance judged, and students' chances for college entrance and employment controlled by a type of test they consider unreliable when applied to their own performance?

Parking Spaces On Plan Agenda

Consideration of a variance permit for 312 additional parking spaces at Northgate Shopping Center will be given by San Rafael Planning Commission at its meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The spaces would be on Unit Three, the eight-acre site recently annexed to the city. The meeting will also hold the second hearing on zoning of the site.

Commissioners are also expected to give a decision on the architectural plans for the remodeling and relocation of a medical building from 911 Mission Avenue to 903 Mission Avenue.

Look At Noise

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in the new city hall, will consider adoption of an ordinance redefining the allowable noise from bars and businesses. It will also introduce an ordinance establishing permanent boards of adjustment and design review within the planning commission.

WE SEW SEATS

Car seats. With split seams.

For example . . . the little VW is a mighty fine car. It's put together by strong mechanics. They have contests to see who can tighten the bolts best. They never come apart.

Except at the seams. We sew them up. With dacron thread. And they never come apart!

(Sam, incidentally, pioneered the use of dacron thread in the automotive field in Marin. Just one of our many firsts.)

We sew seams for Fords, Chevs, and Plymouths, TRs, MGAs, and Alfas. And many more, too.

We also install seat covers, auto glass and convertible tops, carpets, headrests and armrests. And many more.

Stop in today and show us your seam problem. Or seat cover problem. Or glass breakage.

New Round-Up For Headstart At Air Base

Administrators of the "Headstart" program on a recruiting tour to Hamilton Air Force Base this morning, in an effort to enlist pre-schoolers to bolster below strength classes in the federally financed project.

And while the Marin County Schools program adminsitrator Kenneth W. Lowry, was at Hamilton enrolling Air Force children, Beatrice Brown, director of the program in Southern Marin announced she is attempting to recruit children of Army personnel stationed at Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite.

About 35 parents showed up for an "orientation" meeting on Headstart at Hamilton's base theater this morning. The audience, predominantly airmen who'd got time off work, was told there are ample places in Headstart programs in Marin for their children.

Preliminary plans call for children of personnel living in the Raphael Village housing area to attend the Headstart program at Marion School in Novato, and for children living on-base to attend the program at MacPhail School in Santa Venetia.

Air Force parents voiced concern about transportation for the children, but the program admistrators said car pools on a cooperative basis usually work out well—and parents who drive the children would be paid eight cents a mile.

Kenneth W. Lowry, Headstart program administrator, said three mothers are already receiving such payment for operating a car pool at Deer Park school program in Fairfax.

Lowry said while the program is primarily aimed at children who will enter kindergarten this fall, places will be available for children who will enter first grade if they've never attended kindergarten. This applies to base children who have been stationed in states or countries without kindergartens.

Children would start attending the Headstart programs immediately, the adminstrator said, and interested parents were being contacted for final arrangements this afternoon.

The struggle for more pupils for the Southern Marin Headstart program continued today, with but 24 pupils showing up for a program designed for 60.

Director Beatrice Brown said today that she has been given a deadline of Wednesday to bring up the enrollment in the program.

"I'm not giving up," she added.

"Forty or 50 pupils are enrolled," she explained, "but some of these are children who have gone through kindergarten already. Eligible children should be those who are entering kindergarten this fall and 90 per cent of the pupils must be from homes where the income is $4,000 or below."

Mrs. Brown said she is attempting to get children from the Army Forts, since children are eligible where fathers are either master or technical sargeants with below 12 years in the service."

Burglars Grab Radios From Private Planes

A $1,700 radio was removed from Villa'scraft, and a $1,200 radio was taken from Alexander's airplane.

Officers said a small building at Mary E. Silvera School, Marinwood, was entered by prying a front door. The structure, used as a Little League baseball clubhouse and storeroom, was looted of $12 worth of baseballs and $20 in candy and gum.

Mrs. Ray W. Haskins, 365 Margarita Drive, San Rafael, told deputies she arrived home last night and noticed a front window was open. She also heard noises inside, she said, and went to a neighbors home to telephone police.

Deputies said when they approached the Haskins home, they saw two youths leaving in a car. They halted the car, but found no loot. It was not immediately learned if anything was missing from the home.

Rowlette investigated, and found a rear bedroom window had been pried open.

handled by three members of the board, but that information on absences must be known in advance to facilitate scheduling.

Gnoss and Storer both went to Eureka last week, but Gnoss, believing the Eel River Assn. was to meet on Friday, missed the session.

He told the Independent-Journal today that the trip was not a loss, because he inspected the airport at Arcata. He said he would not put in for expenses for the trip but pay for it out of his own pocket.

The board had authorized $82.70 each for Gnoss and Storer to cover expenses.

Two Bodies Recovered

YREKA (AP) — The bodies of a father and his son, drowned Saturday in a Belcher Lake boating accident, were recovered Sunday. A dragging search continued today for a second son.

The recovered victims were Jack Russell Howell, 35, of Grenada and Daniel Jack Howell, 13, of Morgan Hill. The still missing boy is Dennis Howell, 12.

A squall apparently capsized the boat in which the three were fishing in the lake about 30 miles southeast of Yreka.

State College Picks President

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Robert Johns, 45-year-old president of the University of Montana at Missoula, was named president today of Sacramento State College.

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of California State Colleges, said Johns' formal appointment would be made by the state college board of trustees at their July 19-20 meeting in Los Angeles.

Johns is a graduate of Ohio State and Stanford universities.

arranged the joint meeting, telling reporters that 10 hours of talks Saturday and yesterday had brought no progress.

Wirtz, who was touring the Far East when the strike started, entered the sluggish negotiations yesterday.

The strike against the five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — has paralyzed much of the nation's air commerce. Normally, the five carriers handle 60 per cent of the domestic industry's business.

At San Francisco, Robert Quick, a district president of the IAM, was unable to get a flight to Washington in order to join in the strike negotiations.

Nonstruck airlines added extra flights after the Civil Aeronautics Board authorized emergency steps to meet the gap caused by the walkout. But the union moved to block the struck carriers from leasing planes to operating lines.

Ramsey said union members would not service the rented craft. The AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union said it was cooperating with the machinists.

Meanwhile, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks went on strike against Northwest Airlines because, the union tried to get them to assume some of the duties of machinist union members.

Topsoil Haul Job Low Bidder

Maggiora and Ghilotti, Inc., of Corte Madera was low bidder today on hauling topsoil to the Veteran's Memorial site at the Civic Center with a price of $9,350.

There are 11,000 cubic yards to be hauled from a Northgate Shopping Center development to the auditorium site.

Other bidders were Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, $10,340; W. R. Forde of San Anselmo, $10,824, and Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., of San Rafael, $13,145.

Aussie Fine After 81-Day Desert Trek

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — Prospector Michael Driscoll, 23, reached civilization Sunday night after a barefoot 81-day 300-mile trek through the deserts of Australia. He said today he was feeling fine.

Driscoll set out from Joanna Spring on the northern edge of the Woomera Rocket Range to Talgarno after his four-wheel-drive vehicle broke down.

He sent two native companions on first and then followed two days later. When the natives reached Broome on the northwest coast, a search party was sent out for Driscoll.

Driscoll said he lived on kangaroo meat until his ammunition ran out and then survived on berries and wild tomatoes. He used an empty beer bottle to carry water. He said his pet dog went mad towards the end of the trip and died by the roadside. He said he was forced to shed his boots after a few days when they wore out.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. George Sibbald Dies At 53

Mrs. George H. Sibbald, 53, of 895 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia, died last night in a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

She and her husband, Colonel Sibbald, were active in Marin bridge circles. They formerly operated bridge clubs in Mill Valley and Terra Linda.

Colonel Sibbald, stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco, retired in 1963, and the family moved to Marin.

Mrs. Sibbald is survived by her husband; daughter Kathie, and sons Gerald and John, all of Santa Venetia; her mother, Mrs. Lillian Lotz of Florida, and two brothers, Robert Lotz of Philadelphia and Richard Lotz of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

Friends may call at Keaton's tomorrow at 7 p.m.

JOHN LANN

John Arthur Lann, a bartender at Oscar's in San Anselmo, died yesterday, apparently of a heart attack, at the Bolema Club trailer park in Olema. He was 62.

According to Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley, Lann, who had a history of coronary trouble, had complained earlier in the day of not feeling well. At 5:45 p.m. he left his trailer to check its power line and collapsed.

Lann lived at No. 5-A, Boardwalk 4, Larkspur.

He is survived by three sisters, Claire Mollencamp of San Anselmo, and Ruth Ross and Doris Lann, both of San Francisco.

The body was taken to Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, for autopsy.

MRS. BIRDSALL

Funeral for Mrs. Margaret B. Birdsall, 77, of Sonoma, mother of two Marin residents, was scheduled in Sonoma today.

Mrs. Birdsall died Thursday at her home. A native of Wisconsin, she had lived in the Sonoma Valley for nine years.

She leaves her husband, Allan Birdsall of Sonoma; three sons, Robert A. Birdsall of San Rafael, Howard C. Birdsall of Santa Rosa, and Virgil M. Birdsall of Novato; a daughter, Mrs. Vivin M. Brewster of Washington, and seven grandchildren.

ALBERT DORRANCE

Funeral for Albert H. Dorrance, 200 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, who died in a local hospital Saturday, after a brief illness, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Faith Missionary Church, Stockton. Burial will be in Sacred Gardens Cemetery, Farmington, San Joaquin County.

A native of Nebraska, Dorrance, who was 88 years old, came to Marin County a year ago. He had farmed in the Stockton area for many years, retiring in 1951.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minerva Dorrance of Fairfax; two daughters, Mrs. Opal Torrance of San Anselmo and Mrs. Elvyn Hill of Modesto; a sister, Mrs. Emil Benson of Lincoln, Neb., three grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

CHARLES GOETHE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Charles Goethe, a leader of the conservation movement in the United States, is dead at 91.

Goethe, a philanthropist - naturalist and author of some 40 books, died Sunday. He had been ill for about a month.

For his dedication to National conservation, Goethe bore the title of "Honorary Chief Naturalist" of the National Park Service.

A native of Sacramento, Goethe contributed funds for the purchase of three large tracts of virgin redwoods in Humboldt and Del Norte counties in his home state.

The groves including the Jedediah Smith Grove in Del Norte, survive him as part of the state park system.

Goethe served for years as board chairman of Sacramento State College.

He is survived by his widow, Mary.

STEWART I. REID

Private funeral for Stewart I. Reid, 60, of 412 Scenic Road, Fairfax, was held today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Reid, a salesman for the Marin Paint Store, San Anselmo, died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Petaluma, he had been a resident of Marin for 24 years and had been in the paint business for 40 years.

Surviving are his wife, Jean, of Fairfax; three daughters, Mrs. Doris Oaklander, Mrs. Susan Moore, and Audrey Reid of San Anselmo, and five grandchildren.

The family prefers that tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society.

SY DEVORE

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sy Devore, famed Hollywood men's clothier, died of a heart attack today at his home. He was 57.

Devore's customers ranged from President Lyndon B. Johnson — whose shirts he made — to Milton Berle, Jerry Lewis, John Wayne, Bobby Darin and Sammy Davis Jr.

He designed Liberace's first gold lame suit.

His standards varied with his clientele. For Jerry Lewis, he cut orange slacks and velvet-collared cognac - colored dinner jackets. Lewis was a $75,000-a-year customer.

Alluding to Devore's hefty prices — his suits ranged from $350 for a custom-made one to $450 to a vicuna outfit, Bob Hope once commented:

"In a very good year, I had my choice between a Rolls-Royce, a new house in Beverly Hills, or a suit from Sy Devore."

He is survived by his second wife, actress Erika Peters; a daughter, Lisa, 13, by his previous marriage and a brother, Al, of Encino, Calif., who was his partner.

MRS. M. TERZA

Requiem Mass for Maddalena R. Terza of Fallon, who died Saturday, will be celebrated Wednesday at 11 a.m. at Our Lady of the Assumption Church in Tomales.

Mrs. Terza, 70, died at a Petaluma hospital. She had been in poor health for some time.

A native of Montemezzo, Italy, she came to the United States in 1921 and married Luigi Terza in San Francisco that year. They first settled in Marshall, where they operated a dairy ranch for many years. In 1952, they moved to 2390 Fallon Road, where they had since run a dairy ranch.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Terza is survived by a son, Fred Terza of Fallon, and four brothers and a sister in Italy.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma. Entombment will be at Tomales Catholic Mausoleum.

DOUGLAS MacMULLEN

MacMullen, 74, had been with the Simmons- Boardman Publishing Corp., publishers of the trade magazine, for many years.

He was a past president of the St. Andrews Society of California and was active in the Propeller Club of San Francisco, the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers and the Navy League.

Body Of Coed Discovered In Music Room

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Police had few leads today in their search for the sex slayer of a University of Colorado coed who was attacked in a castle-like tower of the university's MacKay Auditorium.

Beautiful and talented Elaura Jeanne Jaquette was slain in a dingy, littered music practice room three flights up a creaky staircase which spirals inside the building's ivy-covered romanesque tower. Organ music, reverberating eerily through the building, probably muffled her death screams.

FOUND SATURDAY

Miss Jaquette's body, clad only in a brassiere, was found Saturday in the organ practice room. She apparently was sexually assaulted and slain after a terrific struggle.

Her attacker, who police say must bear marks from the scuffle, escaped. Detectives say they have few clues and no suspects.

The killing was at least the fourth in a series of violent slayings in the last 18 years at the Colorado campus, set in the ruggedly pastoral foothills of the Rocky Mountains.

BROKEN JAW

The 20-year-old coed described as "tall, tan, young and lovely," was found sprawled under an organ in the tower cubicle. Her jaw was broken and her skull fractured. She appeared to have been raped, but Coroner George Bowe said results of an autopsy were inconclusive.

Police Chief Myron Teegarden said yesterday officers had questioned "seven people, and quite a few friends including one or two boy friends. But I want to emphasize that none of them are suspects."

U.S. Pilots Face Trial As Criminals

LONDON (UPI) —The Yugoslavia news agency Tanjug quoted reports from Hanoi today as saying that about 60 captured U.S. airmen "will be tried as criminals" by a special court.

The Tanjug dispatch, dated Pnom Penh, Cambodia, said:

"Reports from Hanoi say that the government of the democratic republic of (North) Viet Nam will form a peoples' court before which captured American pilots from planes shot down over North Vietnamese territory will be brought."

The agency said the Hanoi regime "does not consider these U.S. citizens as prisoners of war for it has not declared war on the U.S.A."

The captive pilots, Tanjug said "will be tried as criminals responsible for the deaths of a large number of North Vietnamese citizens who died from the beginning of American bombings of the democratic republic of Viet Nam."

The U.S. launched its first air attacks against North Viet Nam in February, 1965.

Tanjug said that about 60 U.S. airmen are being held by the North Vietnamese Communists.

They recently were paraded through the streets of Hanoi in handcuffs during mass demonstrations of support for the Ho Chi Minh regime. Dispatches said the crowds screamed for the blood of the "Johnson sky warriors."

Dispatches by other Communist news agencies from Hanoi said variously that "several score" and "several dozen" prisoners were paraded.

Radio Hanoi on Friday broadcast demands by three women that the airmen be executed as war criminals.

Ball Reports New Public War Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said today polls show a rise in U.S. public approval of the conduct of the Viet Nam war since the bombing of oil installations in the north.

He drew a degree of encouragement from the long-range bearing that may have on North Viet Nam's view of the prospects.

Interviewed on the NBC television show "Today," Ball skirted around a direct response to a question on whether the outcome of the November general elections in the United States may influence North Vietnamese thinking.

But he conceded the Communists, apparently are putting stock in their estimate that the American people are sharply divided over the conflict, and added:

"Unless and until the regime in North Viet Nam is persuaded the United States is going to see this thing through, it looks like this war is going to go on for a very long time."

For the moment, Ball said, the North Vietnamese leaders "seem to be taking the same hard line they did before."

Times Claims New Buildup Of U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has begun a major expansion of its armed forces and is planning further troop buildups in Viet Nam despite official optimism about the war's progress, the New York Times reported today.

No official pronouncements about the buildups have been made, but as of June 30, Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine forces exceeded their budget levels by 100,000 men, the Times said.

The Army, it was reported, has been instructed to continue recruit training at a level of 50,000 men per month for at least the next three months.

U.S. troops in South Viet Nam now number 280,000.

The Times reported that high-ranking military sources said President Johnson would increase that force to 375,000 by the end of the year and to 425,000 by next spring.

However, such buildups are not inconsistent with reports that the United States has turned the tide of battle to its favor, the newspaper said. The larger force is needed to hasten a successful outcome to the war.

Evacuation Set As Taal Erupts Anew

MANILA (UPI) —Fireballs boiled up to heights of 1,000 feet above Taal Volcano today and authorities alerted nearby towns for evacuation.

The current eruption is the third since last September's blast, which killed some 200 persons and forced an estimated 50,000 others to flee their homes.

The volcanic island, which rises 984 above Taal Lake, erupted again six days ago but the explosions were described as "mild" by volcanologists. They said an eruption Sunday was of greater intensity.

A scientific team camped on the island, about 40 miles south of Manila, reported that observations during the night and this morning showed that steam blasts and the ejection of redhot rocks had increased the volume and frequency, reaching heights of 1,000 feet or more.

Volcanologists asked authorities to evacuate residents of lakeshore towns opposite Taal. Last week's eruption also prompted similar evacuation orders but most residents returned to their homes Friday after activity subsided.

The eruptions all occurred within the vicinity of last year's devastating blast on the southwestern rim of volcano island. New conelets have been formed in the area as a result of the eruptions.

Little Woman Comes Out With Gun Blazing

POST FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — It was hardly the kind of surrender the cordon of police officers and FBI agents expected from a tiny young woman, known to be alone.

But when lawmen surrounding her motel room told jailbreaker Lillian Jo Ramus, 27, to come out, the pint-sized barmaid did—spraying bullets from a cut-down 30 caliber carbine.

She was listed in serious condition today at Deaconess Hospital in Spokane, Wash., 20 miles away.

In her motel room, officers found three other loaded guns, a loaded tear gas gun and nearly 900 rounds of ammunition.

The Saturday midnight gun battle involved FBI agents, Idaho State Police, the Kootenai County, Wash., sheriff's office and Post Falls police.

J. Earl Milnes, agent in charge of the Seattle FBI office, said officers had surrounded the motel when Miss Ramus fired one shot through her door, then flung it open and emerged with carbine blazing.

She was being sought on a federal warrant for jailbreaking. She and another woman sawed through the bars on their cell window in the Spokane city jail four days before Miss Ramus was to be sentenced on a forgery conviction. They jumped from the window into the police parking lot. Her companion was injured, but Miss Ramus escaped. The FBI suspected she would return to the Spokane area to visit relatives.

Raids May Draw Church Criticism

GENEVA (UPI) —The World Council of Churches (WCC) tomorrow opens a 12-day conference expected to bring sharp denunciations of stepped-up U.S. air raids against Communist North Viet Nam.

The churchmen from more than 200 Anglican, Orthodox and Protestant denominations with some 400 million members also were expected to criticize racial injustice and Western complacency about the world's widening gap between rich and poor.

It will be the first major church forum on social problems since the end of World War II.

New Engineering Lab Going Up In Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — Construction of a $4 million structural engineering laboratory has begun at the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

The new laboratory, to be one of the most modern in the world, will contain facilities for the studies of soil mechanics and structural, hydraulic, transportation and sanitary engineering.

Classrooms Sought On Albert Park

A request from the San Rafael school district to locate portable classrooms at Albert Park will be heard Wednesday by San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission.

The classrooms would be for continuation school, a compulsory school for disciplinary cases. The commission meets at 8 p.m. in City Hall

Also to be heard is a request from the Chamber of Commerce to use Albert Field for the annual Autumn Festival, Sept. 7-10. The chamber held the festival at Albert Field last year for the first time.

Third request will be from Marin Skateland for the city recreation department to cosponsor free passes to the rink under the summer recreation program. Reports on the summer program and parks will be heard.

Investigators Being Sought

A recruiting drive for civilian investigators has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission in San Francisco.

Retired military personnel with investigative or intelligence experience may be given temporary six-month appointments. Qualified candidates will be hired at GS-9, paying $7,479 a year.

Girl Fatally Shot By Friend

SAN JOSE (AP) — A 16-year-old girl was accidentally shot and killed by a friend yesterday in the wild Stevens Creek Canyon area west of here, the Santa Clara County sheriff's office said.

The victim was Shirley White of Campbell. Deputies said the shooting occurred at a target practice session with a .38 caliber revolver.

They said Connie Race, 16, of San Jose, was handing the revolver to Shirley when the gun accidentally discharged and a bullet struck her in the stomach. She died at the scene.

The girls had gone to the area accompanied by two young men.

Sale Of Bonds

Kentfield School District trustees, meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Wolfe Grade School multi-use room, will be asked to authorize sale of $265,000 in bonds for remodeling and additions at Adaline E. Kent School. They will also be asked to extend Supt. Howard C. Harmon's contract another four years.

Freeman Meets Khan On Pakistan's Needs

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman met for an hour today with President Mohammed Ayub Khan, then flew to Rawalpindi to discuss Pakistan's food requirements with officials.

Freeman arrived last night from India. He told newsmen that 250,000 tons of wheat was being loaded at U.S. ports for Pakistan.

VALENTINE, LADY LUCK DEFLECT CONG BULLET

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A Marine has written to his parents in Milwaukee how a late Valuentin card and Lady Luck joined forces in South Viet Nam to save his life.

Lance Cpl. Robert W. Monday, 19, wrote that he had the card, two letters and a cloth fatigue cap stuffed in the liner of his combat helmet to be kept dry. Then his squad encountered a Viet Cong ambush.

"I got shot and a round went through my helmet," he wrote. "I ducked and checked for blood. No blood. Checked my helmet and saw a small hole where the round went in."

The card, letters and cap, he said, had deflected the machinegun bullet.

Presidents' Church Before Demolition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A chandelier stood in the middle of the rubble-strewn floor of the National Presbyterian Church. Benches were askew, draperies had been ripped from the walls.

This was one of Washington's best-known churches today on the eve of its demolition. It was the church of at least eight presidents, most recently of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Just seven blocks north of the White House, National Presbyterian — with its stately Romanesque bell tower — is to be leveled to make room for an office building.

Inside, the curious, the antique collectors, the bargain hunters and an occasional parishioner searching for a memento pore over old books and furnishings.

But the razing of the 80-year-old building doesn't mean the end of National Presbyterian. It's moving farther out to residential Northwest Washington.

"It's not anything new to have a new building for this congregation," said The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson ,senior minister. The new building will the fifth since the church was organizee in 1795.

The Rev. Dr. Elson noted that all of the historical fixtures — including the pews used by presidents — will be in the new building.

Four Emerge As Top Men In Red China

TOKYO (AP)—Four men appear to have moved into key positions in Red China's Communist hierarchy as a result of the sweeping purge in the nation's leadership.

The four were spotlighted over the weekend when most of China's top leaders appeared at a reception for delegates to an Asian-African writers' conference in Peking.

The list of the leaders and their titles was reported in detail by Peking Radio, the official New China News Agency and Peking newspapers. Foreign observers in Tokyo believe this may have been Communist party chief Mao Tze-tung's way of anouncing the team with which he intends to push forward his "cultural revolution."

The four men given new prominence were:

Marshal Yeh Chien-yin, who was raised to the Central Committee's important 12-man secretariat. He is considered a possible successor to Gen. Lo Juiching as army chief of the general staff.

Chen Po-ta, Mao's former secretary and editor in chief of the party's theoretical journal "Red Flag." He was identified as "leader of the group in charge of the cultural revolution under the party's Central Committee."

GOP Leader Seeks Yorty Voters' Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There are two keys to a state GOP victory in the November election—increased voter registration and capture of the Yorty Democrats, according to Dr. Gaylord B. Parkinson, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Parkinson said he agreed with Republican state registration chairman Frank Nichol, San Diego, who has called for registration of 700,000 more Republicans by the Sept. 15 closing date.

Nicol reported earlier to the Republican State Central Committee, which met here over the weekend, that the spring narrowed the Democrats' lead in registration.

And the "other key" to victory, said Parkinson, is winning for Ronald Reagan the heavy vote that went to Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty, who opposed Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the June primary.

"I personally believe the Yorty vote, particularly in Northern California, was an anti-Brown vote," said the Republican chairman. But, he said, "I don't want to predict how it will go in November. I want to see it before I count it as ours."

Eagle Makes No Difference

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — An official of the Polish Postal Ministry says he doubts Poland's Communist government will bar U.S. mail with a new commemorative stamp bearing a crowned eagle instead of the post-war Communist eagle.

The official noted that even Polish stamps have depicted various types of eagles, depending on what historical period was being commemorated.

The U.S. stamp, to be issued July 31, bears a cross commemorating 1,000 years of Christianity in Poland and the eagle commemorating the millennium of the Polish nation. The crown commemorates the monarchy.

Belgian Queen Loses Baby

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Royal Palace announced today that Queen Fabiola's pregnancy had been terminated by an operation.

The palace had announced Friday that the queen, 28, expected a baby next winter. She was operated on yesterday.

A communique said the operation had been necessitated by blood in the peritoneal cavity — hemoperitoneum — resulting from an extrauterine pregnancy. It said the queen's condition was satisfactory.

Elevator Cable Cut

Mrs. Pat Fernjanicsik reported to Mill Valley police Friday that someone had been opening her mail box and tearing up her mail and that the cable to her hill elevator which runs from her home at 148 Miller Avenue to the street had been cut.

SACRAMENTO REVIEW

State Budget Has Fancy Paperwork

By NORMAN KEMPSTER
(First of five articles)

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — It took some fancy paperwork to do the job but the legislature was able to balance a record $4.59 billion state budget without new or higher taxes.

But the chances of escaping a tax boost again next year appear to be very dim.

Roy Bell, Assistant Director of Finance and the man who works closest to the budget, said the long range forecast shows a potential deficit of about $350 million for the fiscal year that will begin next July 1.

Asked if there was any way to close the gap without resorting to higher taxes, Bell said, "I can't think of any."

Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, chairman of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee, said, "It appears at this time that it will be necessary to make some increase in taxes. Just which taxes will be increased, we don't know yet."

Only Assemblyman Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, chairman of the lower house Revenue and Taxation Committee, held out hope of avoiding higher taxes.

"A lot depends on things we can't figure now," he said. "I certainly do not consider a tax increase to be inevitable."

The budget for the current fiscal year was balanced by changing the state's bookkeeping system from a "cash" to an "accrual" basis.

The switch — proposed by Gov. Brown—resulted in a one-time windfall of about $300 million in "paper" revenue, enough to wipe out a deficit of about $200 million.

Although the 1966 session did not enact a tax increase, it was far from inactive in the field of taxation.

The lawmakers passed, and Brown signed into law, a measure intended to reform the scandal-plagued property tax assessment system.

The measure, by Petris and Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, requires all assessments to be fixed at 25 per cent of the cash value of the property by 1971. In addition, it requires the assessors to lift the veil of secrecy from their books and sets up the State Board of Equalization as a watchdog on local assessors.

Brown said the measure was a necessary first step toward comprehensive property tax reform. The governor said he would ask the legislature next year to remodel the property tax structure with an eye toward reducing the tax load on the homeowner.

But if property taxes are reduced, the burden will have to be switched to some other tax source, probably the income or sales tax.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, introduced a bill that would have increased the sales tax by a penny per dollar. The money would have been used to increase state support for school districts and permit a 25 per cent reduction in school property taxes.

The Assembly passed Unruh's bill but the plan was killed in the Senate.

The Assembly also passed, and the Senate killed, a bill which would have provided some tax relief to the elderly poor. The measure would have provided refunds from the state treasury of some of the property tax persons over 65 pay to local government.

The state budget, although a record as usual, was $41 million less than Brown originally requested. It provides money to operate state government during the fiscal year that began July 1, the day after the measure was finally enacted.

The budget was held up by a partisan fight between Democrats and Republicans in the Assembly. The GOP demanded $50 million in cuts as the price for the Republican votes needed to make up the two-thirds majority required for passage. The Republicans eventually settled for the $41 million reduction.

Congress Set To Consider War Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, ending a 10-day vacation today, barely has time to put down its suitcases before shouldering the burden of major decisions on the Viet Nam war and foreign aid.

Both houses are expected to take up tomorrow the compromise version of a $17.4-billion bill to authorize procurement of military hardware and pave the way for an across-the-board pay raise for the armed services. Actual funds depend on appropriation measures to be considered later.

The authorization bill, substantially larger than administration recommendations, includes provision for several controversial items such as a nuclear frigate and a start on a second, and development of a new manned bomber and the Nike X antimissile system.

The House next takes up its version of the $4.1-billion foreign aid authorization act, which for the first time would authorize a two-year program. Congress previously has insisted on authorizing foreign aid only a year at a time, with a full review each year.

The Senate has a different version which may be considered late in the week, or more probably next week. Viet Nam and foreign policy generally are certain to figure largely in the debate in both chambers.

The House has only minor matters before it today, but the Senate considers a House-passed bill to give federal civilian employes a pay raise of about 2.9 per cent, with improvements in fringe benefits.

Lindsay Names Review Board

NEW YORK (AP)—A civilian-dominated police review board, demanded by civil rights groups and bitterly attacked by police representatives, was named today by Mayor John V. Lindsay and Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary.

Lindsay named four civilian members to the board, including a Negro and a Puerto Rican. Leary added three appointees from police ranks, including one Negro.

The board will act in an advisory capacity to the commissioner, who will make final decisions. A "conciliation service" will be set up to make quick settlement of complaints growing out of misunderstandings.

Green Berets Are Guests Of Kennedies

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) —Sixteen soldiers from a Special Forces group were the guests this week end of the Kennedy family.

The Green Beret soldiers, all of whom are veterans of Viet Nam, gave a demonstration of hand-to-hand combat at the Kennedy compound. They also played touch football, and went swimming.

The senator's boat beat one owned by Stanley Moore, a Cape Cod car dealer, for the second time. Until last week, Kennedy had lost consistently to Moore.

Reds Blamed In Greek Riots

SALONIKA, Greece (UPI) — Police said today Communists instigated a bloody riot by about 5,000 farmers angry over the price of government subsidized wheat.

The fist-swinging, rock-throwing rioting was not just a spontaneous act, authorities said, but a "general rehearsal of an operation abolishing the authorities."

More than 300 persons, including 72 policemen, were injured in the daylong melee yesterday. It began when farmers defied local restrictions and advanced on about 800 tractors from the outskirts of this seaport into the center of town.

Sausalito Man Injured In Dip

A Sausalito man was treated at Marin General Hospital early today after he reportedly took an early morning dip in the bay from rocks at Tiffany Beach.

Ted Kerber of 265 Santa Rosa Avenue was treated for bruises and cuts on his chest and hip. Police reported they found Kerber on the beach, after his swim, and called firemen for first aid.

Body Found In Novato Field Near Railroad Right Tracks

A body—thought to have been a discarded mannequin when first spotted from a moving train Thursday—was removed yesterday from a Novato field near the south end of Franklin Avenue.

The man had been dead for about 10 days, according to the county coroner's office. He was described as 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds and having light hair and brown eyes. His age was estimated between 40 and 60 years. He was wearing well-worn clothing—brown work shoes, gray socks, green trousers, white shirt and a brown jacket.

There was no evidence of foul play. The body was taken to Chapel of Marin for autopsy.

Harold J. Pennington of Santa Rosa, a brakeman for Northwestern Pacific Railroad, told police he saw what he took to be a mannequin near the railroad's right of way as his train passed through Novato at noon Thursday.

He saw it again on Friday and Saturday and pointed it out to another railroad worker, Elvized Poncia of Santa Rosa. The two drove to Novato from Sonoma yesterday to get a better look. On discovering it to be a corpse, they called police.

New City Hall Report Mailed

The first "City Hall Report to the People of Mill Valley" has been mailed to 4,085 residents.

The printed brochure, which cost the city $229 for printing and postage, is being started on an experimental basis and may be issued quarterly.

The July edition explains the breakdown of the recently adopted budget, progress on the small craft harbor and street improvements. It also tells of the city's 701 planning program, how a person can get a burglar alarm installed at the police department, and how to apply for burning permits.

Portrait on a $10,000 bill is that of Salmon Chase, secretary of the treasury during Lincoln's administration.

Muir Woods Park Compromise Zone

The Marin County Planning Commission split 3-3 today in two attempts to solve the Muir Woods Park zoning issue, then voted 6-0 for a compromise solution.

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. had asked for increase in the minimum lot size from 6,000 to 10,000 square feet in the central developed portion, and an increase from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet in the outer areas, still largely undeveloped.

Approved after a two-hour hearing before 50 persons was a 10,000-square foot zone throughout. Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was absent.

Earlier, Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. proposed a minimum of 7,500 square foot on the inner portion and 10,000 on the outer section. When this came to a vote, commissioners Claude Stroller, William F. Upton and Margaret Azevedo dissented.

Stroller then proposed to zone the area as requested by the association. This also brought a deadlock 3-3 vote, with commissioners Michael Praszker, Eugene R. Trombley and Schultz dissenting.

Then Stroller offered the compromise for 10,000 square feet throughout. This was approved with agreement that a new hearing would have to be held on portions of the change because the advertisement for today's hearing did not include the proposed 10,000-foot zone on some of the lots.

Attorney Albert Bianchi argued that increasing minimum lot sizes only served to prevent those in the "crowded ghettos from moving away from the cities."

He also argued that there seemed little point in making the zone change when sewage disposal regulations followed by the county sanitarian call for minimum 8,000 square foot lots.

John Fisher-Smith countered that the area will become a slum if allowed to develop as it has been with the small lots.

Sign Crackdown Draws Petition

A petition signed by about 50 Larkspur businessmen, protesting the city's crackdown on the size of business signs, will be presented to the city council at its meeting today at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Last month the council voted to place one-fifth of the business establishments in the city on notice they were in violation of the sign ordinance regulating the size of signs.

It is expected City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst will recommend the setting up of a joint committee to deal with the problem.

Court Martial Resumes Tomorrow

The court martial of A/1C James O. Young on a charge of premeditated murder of A/1C Robert M. Jennings will resume tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the Hamilton Air Force Base courtroom.

The trial was recessed, after prosecution and defense completed their arguments May 25, pending psychiatric examination of Young.

Civil Service Has Apprentice Jobs

Openings for apprenticeship training have been announced by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, San Francisco Bay Naval Shipyard, San Francisco.

Apprenticeships are offered for electricians, electronics mechanics and fire control mechanics. Entrance salary is $2.30. No experience is necessary, but a written test must be passed.

Applications are available at post offices or by writing the board of examiners.

No Meeting

There will be no meeting of Mill Valley School District Trustees tonight, the board having met last Tuesday for its reorganization. The board will meet at 8 p.m. on July 25 in the district office.

Guest With Gun Feels Unwanted In Kentfield

A guest who armed himself with a pistol to attend a Kentfield party yesterday complained to sheriff's officers that he felt unwanted.

Michael David Farnhan, 26, of 100 Cypress Road, San Anselmo, told deputy a young woman invited him to the gathering.

Because he thought "a bunch of tough guys" might also attend, he said, he placed a .38 caliber pistol under his belt beneath his sweater.

He arrived at 1 a.m. yesterday, he said, but when party games included arm wrestling, he patted his gun and advised fellow guests, "I'll bet you can't out-wrestle this."

He was told to leave, he said. His host told officers he returned, however, with gun in hand. Another guest promptly took it away. Farnhan went to a neighbor's house and telephoned deputies, telling them of the inhospitable reception.

Officers, apparently not sympathetic, arrived and investigated, then confiscated his gun. No arrest was made.

Committee Meets

The Marin City Community Action Committee will meet at 8 p.m. today at the office of the Community Relations Service, 951 Drake Avenue, Marin City. Meeting date, normally the second and last Tuesday of the month, has been changed in this particular instance for convenience of members.

NEW BALLOON RECORD — Concord balloonist William R. Berry, 38, has his hand bandaged after setting a new world altitude record of 19,000 feet for hot air balloons. Berry is awaiting official confirmation of his record. (AP Wirephoto)

Undaunted Balloonist Awaits Confirmation

William Berry of Concord, a balloonist who wouldn't give up, today awaited official confirmation that he had set a world altitude record for a hot-air balloon yesterday.

The 38-year-old father of six took off from the Livermore Airport and climbed to an elevation of 19,600 feet. He came down an hour later on a Delta island near Antioch, 30 miles to the north.

On April 18, 1964, Berry launched a five-story high balloon from Tennessee Valley, only to discover after he was aloft that a 12-year-old boy was caught in a rope he had loosened for the launching.

The boy, Danny Nowell, son of Lt. Col. Thomas E. Nowell of Tennessee Valley, was carried 3,000 feet into the air. He had wrapped the nylon rope around his left wrist.

Berry made a rapid descent. The rope broke as the balloon neared the ground, dropping Danny through the branches of a plum tree in the back yard of Robert Dewalt at 537 Browning Court, Tamalpais Valley. Fortunately, his injuries did not prove serious.

In April of this year, Berry tried for a record in his striped 80-foot balloon only to have it rupture at 250 feet. The fall broke a vertebra in the balloonist's back.

But yesterday, all went well with the intrepid balloonist.

MISADVENTURES

Berry's record ascent must still be confirmed by the National Aeronautic Assn. But it apparently exceeds by about 4,000 feet the mark set last year by Don Picard in Southern California.

The record performance was an exhilarating climax after a series of fantastic misadventures by the balloonist.

He had scheduled his latest flight for last week, but had been grounded all week by strong winds.

Even in yesterday's flight, he suffered severe burns on the palm and fingers of his left hand on landing when the wind and collapsing balloon snatched the rip panel line from his hand.

As he disappeared into the clouds, his wife, his two - man crew, the fans and newsmen headed north in a caravan of cars. He maintained radio contact and gave them a running description of his flight.

Berry said later that the ascent was uneventful except for the heavy clouds and a beautiful rainbow that greeted him as he emerged above the clouds.

TERRIBLY COLD

"At 15,000 feet, I became terribly cold," he said. He was wearing only a shirt and trousers beneath his bright red jump suit. "But at 18,000 feet it became very warm."

Berry's balloon carried two automatic altimeters and he said that one showed 19,600 feet when "there wasn't enough oxygen and the burners weren't functioning properly. I might have gone higher but I decided to come down.

Assessments In Richmond Subpoenaed

RICHMOND (UPI)—The state attorney general's office has been forced to subpoena city appraisal files to be used in connection with the state investigation of Richmond assessment practices.

Marshall Mayer, deputy attorney general, said Saturday that his probers had met "resistance" from Richmond City Assessor Leo U. Haley when they requested the files.

Haley admitted that he had refused to turn the files over to the investigators and said he did so because he wanted to prevent "preconceived ideas" by the investigators.

Mayer said that the first report on the $25,000 investigation ordered by the Richmond City in about two weeks. The audit was ordered by the council to "clear the air" after a number of complaints had been presented to the county grand jury about assessment practices.

Hub TV Set Stolen

Mrs. Florence Guiliani of 28 Cordone Drive, San Anselmo, reported to police the theft of a television set worth $75 from her home yesterday. Police said entry was made through an unlocked basement door.

Pesticide May Be Cause In Death Of Marin Man

James Soldavini, retired maintenance worker and a resident of Marin for 62 years, died today of possible pesticide poisoning at his home at 1360 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley said Soldavini's son-in-law, Roland Wolters, described Soldavini as worried about his health.

Soldavini, 82, was living with his son-in-law and daughter, Mary Wolters. She told Bradley she had been awakened at 4:15 a.m. by noise in the basement and found her father thrashing around on the basement floor.

Bradley said Soldavini appeared to have drunk a pesticide. He was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

Soldavini came to the United States from his native Italy in 1903 at the age of 19.

He first worked for the North Shore Railroad, now Northwestern Pacific. He worked at one time at the old Patten brick yard north of San Rafael, and for 25 years for McNear's brick yard. Until his retirement he worked as a maintenance man for the Marin City Housing Authority.

In addition to his daughter, he is survived by a son, James Soldavini of San Anselmo, and four grandchildren.

The body was taken to Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, for autopsy.

Unmanned Apollo Shot Set Aug. 20

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —A powerful Saturn 1 rocket is scheduled to send an unmanned Apollo spaceship on a searing sub-orbital hop three quarters of the way around the globe Aug. 20 to clear the way for an attempt to orbit three men in a similar craft in November.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) disclosed the target date for the test flight yesterday. The announcement broke the agency's custom of withholding such dates until 30 days before launch.

The Apollo will be rocketed about 750 miles into space and then sent on a high-speed dive back toward a Pacific Ocean recovery fleet to test the ship's heat shield under high atmospheric heating conditions.

Two Boys Cited For Target Practice

Two Corte Madera boys were cited by a Tiburon sheriff's deputy for target practicing with their rifles in pasture land above Lyford Avenue yesterday.

Deputy John O. Goff said he spotted the boys, one 15 years old and the other 17, shooting their .22 caliber rifles at random about 1:30 p.m. He confiscated the weapons and ammunition pending their appearance July 13 before a juvenile officer.

Fishers' Past Study Begins

GILROY (UPI) —Investigators today began retracing the lives of a San Francisco couple who disappeared mysteriously two weeks ago leaving an empty car, a bloodstained pillowcase and a burned-out cabin as clues.

Max and Edith Fisher, both 52, were believed to be from Miami, Fla. Fisher might have immigrated from Switzerland, authorities said.

Fisher disappeared June 27, the day his empty car was found on Golden Gate Bridge. His wife vanished five days earlier.

Authorities searched the area round their cabin near here last week after the structure was found burning. But the only clue was a bloodstained pillowcase in a nearby trash can.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Fisher, who was seen leaving the cabin moments before it burned. He is charged with starting the fire.

New Sausalito Chief At Work

Edward S. Kreins took over duties today as police chief of Sausalito. He replaces Kenneth H. Huck, who resigned March 25 to become police chief of Union City, Alameda County. Lt. Theodore C. Zink has been acting chief since Huck left.

Kreins, 32, was formerly a Hayward police sergeant. He plans to move to Sausalito with his wife, Emily, and three sons Aug. 1.

He is the third police chief in Sausalito since March 1964.

San Rafael Superintendent Hiring Closed Session Set

The San Rafael Board of Education will meet in closed session tomorrow, after its regular business meeting, to consider selection of a new school superintendent.

Before holding the closed meeting, the board will consider adopting a resolution calling for bids on surplus school property at Third and E streets for a minimum of $43,750 plus any real estate commissions.

The board will also consider a staff recommendation that a contract be authorized with Marshall and Bowles, district architects, for design of six additional classrooms at Coleman School.

Adoption of three textbooks for Spanish, French and Latin classes will be before the board.

$143,500 Sausalito Aid Proposed

Sausalito School District may get $143,500 from a special fund set up by the state "to improve instruction in concentrated areas of poverty and tension."

The state Board of Education at its meeting in San Francisco Thursday will decide how it can distribute $46 million set aside for this purpose.

The aid was approved by recent legislation and the Sausalito district was named as one which could qualify for a share.

If approved, $119,000 of the grand would be earmarked for classrooms and school sites and $24,000 for hiring extra teachers in elementary grades.

Under the legislation, Wilson C. Riles, state director of compensatory education, will be responsible for distributing the funds once the board has approved the selection method.

Prisoner Dies After Surgery

Anderson, a parolee, after serving four years for indecent exposure in Los Angeles, had returned to the prison for treatment. The tumor was discovered during a medical examination after a fall from a ladder at his place of employment last March.

Trail Policy To Be Discussed

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission will discuss general policy on preservations of trails Wednesday.

The discussion was prompted by the recent threat to the Dipsea Trail.

Also on the agenda are discussion of park priorities and financing and further discussion of the defeat of the park bond issue June 7.

Contractor Says Car, Money Taken At Night

San Francisco Contractor Bud Costello told Sausalito police today that he parked his 1948, four-door Plymouth in the city parking lot at Bridgeway and Bay Street at 2:30 a.m. today, and awakened about five hours later in the Sausalito Hotel.

Checking, he found that not only was his Plymouth gone but so was $70 from his wallet.

Hot Stove League Finds Lesson In Recalling Brilliant Defense

When the Hot Stove League goes into session we talk about the brilliant hands of bygone days.

Opening lead — ♡ K

West opened the king of hearts, and East overtook with the ace in order to return the jack of diamonds.

It was clear that only one heart trick was available, and it was vital to get the diamonds started before declarer could set up dummy's clubs.

WEST'S CHANCE

Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and led a club toward dummy.

This gave West his chance to be brilliant, and Arnold Krauder rose to the occasion by playing the queen of clubs.

This brilliant play was based on the simple principle that it takes four tricks to defeat a contract of four spades.

The bidding and East's first play indicated that the defenders could expect only one heart trick.

The other tricks had to come from diamonds and clubs.

VITAL ENTRY

Since the defenders could get only one club trick, Kauder had to make sure his partner won that trick in order to return another diamond.

Only in that way could the defense get two diamond tricks.

Declarer won the first club trick in dummy with the king and returned a club from dummy.

East stepped up with the jack of clubs and was able to hold the trick thanks to the fact that Kauder had unblocked by playing the queen of clubs on the previous trick.

If Kauder had played his low club, East would have been unable to get the lead in clubs.

East returned another diamond, South went down, and the hand passed into history.

ANSWER: Pass.

You would double for a take-out if the opening bid were one spade since you would be ready to support any unbid suit.

You cannot support spades if some other suit is bid first, and your best bet is to pass and await developments.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, July 11, the 192nd day of 1966, with 173 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; there are no evening stars.

John Qunicy Adams was born on this day in 1767.

On this day in history:

In 1936, Adolph Hitler signed a treaty in which he promised to recognize the Austrian frontier.

In 1955, the Air Force Academy was dedicated at Lowry Air Base in Colorado.

Early Market Gains Fail Later In Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today with many issues backing away from their best early prices.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6.2 million shares compared with 6.1 million Friday.

Du Pont and Douglas Aircraft rose more than 3 each.

Gains of a point or so were made by Zenith, Sears Roebuck, Goodyear, U.S. Rubber, International Nickel, Polaroid and United Air Lines.

Down about a point were Pan American, IBM, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, Northwest Airlines, Texas Gulf Sulphur, National Airlines and Calgon.

Sperry Rand was ahead as the most active stock, holding a fractional gain. It was pressed hard by U.S. Rubber and Ampex, another 1-point gainer.

Up about 2 were Sunshine Mining, Texas Intrument, Nevada Power, Motorola, and Delta Airlines.

Sperry & Hutchinson, the nation's oldest and largest trading stamp company, whose "green stamps" are saved by some 35 million families, was admitted to trading on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol "SNH." It opened at $25.25 a share.

Most of the day, stocks showed a slight gain on average as the list responded to selective investment demand. There was no follow through, however, and in late dealings weakness appeared in various sectors.

American Telephone widened a fractional loss to about a point. Losses of around a point were shown by Eastern Air Lines, Pan American World Airways and Kennecott.

Montgomery Ward held a gain exceeding a point. Gains of about 2 were shown late in the session by Du Pont, Douglas and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

American Motors Has Best Month Of 1966

DETROIT — Retail sales of American Motors cars for June were at record levels for the year. Deliveries totaled 26,513, an increase of 6.5 per cent over the 24,898 cars sold in the year-ago period.

Sales in the final 10 days of June rose to 11,811, up 46 per cent over the 8,101 cars sold in the previous 10 days, and 21 per cent over the 9,808 cars delivered in the comparable 1965 period.

Crocker-Citizens Net Income Up For First Half

SAN FRANCISCO — Crocker-Citizens National Bank's net income after taxes for the first half of 1966 exceeded results of the similar period of 1965 by 7.6 per cent, or 9 cents per share.

The bank's net operating income after taxes amounted to $12,043,053 for the first six months of the year, compared with $11,188,339 for the corresponding period of 1965, equivalent to $1.28 per share for the first half of this year, and $1.19 for the first half of last year.

On June 30 deposits stood at $3,390,622,435, an increase of $136,912,174 over the corresponding total a year earlier.

Cash and securities increased from $1,278,336,683 on June 30, 1965, to $1,400,627,558 a year ago. The increase in securities and in time certificates of deposit of other banks amounted to $200,-895,695, bringing the total of such earning assets to $949,925,-734, as compared with $749,030,-039 at midyear 1965.

Loans, less loan reserves, came to $2,301,457,824, a moderate increase of $50,852,350 over the comparable figure of $2,250,-605,474 a year before. The bank's net-loan-to-deposit ratio, however, stood at a reduced 67.88 per cent on June 30 compared with 69.17 per cent on June 30, 1965.

Auto Production Down For July

DETROIT (UPI) — July car production will drop to 464,000, a trade publication said yesterday, down 43 per cent from June and 37 per cent from the July 1965 level.

Ward's Automotive reports said the slash was caused by early changeover to 1967 models. Several brands already had completed 1966 model production, the publication said, and all except Cadillac and Mustang will be through by July 31.

August production will drop to 173,000, the lowest for any month since August 1963, Ward's said. But car output in September is scheduled to boom with 703,000 assemblies scheduled, a record for the month and up 43 per cent from last September.

PATTERN POWER FOR POWER

Steel skeleton for a section of concrete pipe makes a pattern at the United Concrete Pipe Co. at Stockton. A complete section (background) weighs 63 tons and requires a special truck which can haul one piece at a time. The pipe is destined for the expansion project at Pacific Gas & Electric Co.'s Moss Landing power plant near Monterey. Pipes will carry condenser cooling water back to the ocean from two generating units.

'ESKIMO ROLL'

Mill Valley Youth Expert On Kayaks

By BRUCE COLEMAN

The 16-year-old builds and sells them. He teaches people to build and paddle their own. He goes into caves and surfs with them.

Though he has kayaked all over the bay, the 6 foot 3-inch kayak builder prefers rivers to the bay's "flat waters."

"On a river," says he, "there are rapids the size of a bus. It's like one big, huge, tremendous roller coaster ride!"

PICKING CHICKENS

Rock 'n' roll music was bounding out of the house and Marty looked as if he'd been picking chickens since he had stringy pieces of fiberglas stuck to his fingers and scissors.

"One of the biggest problems for me is to find the scissors," Marty declared. "They get all hairy and stuff."

The white kayak was "cracked" last winter when Marty and a friend were kayaking in Kentfield in winter floods. The friend tipped over, the boat landed broadside against a tree and force from the rushing waters cracked it.

Marty has been working and playing with kayaks for two years, his older sister, Candy, having started first.

Asked how many kayaks he has, Marty replied, "Three and a friend's—his is a kind of funny shade of green. He made it when it was raining."

Marty's parents are also interested in boating and own a six-man life raft which they use on vacations. Marty is also an oarsman and will spend much of his vacation rowing vacationers on rivers such as the Rogue and Klamath.

He explained the process of kayak building. First he bought a mold which comes in two parts, one—the hull—and the other—the deck, or upper section.

MIXES RESIN

Marty places a mold release on the mold, then a layer of fiberglas cloth. He then paints this layer with a resin which he mixes himself. This is followed by a layer of matting, another painting of resin, and finally a layer of "roving woving" and another painting.

The whole process of kayak building takes three days, two days for the main work and the third day "for finishing touches."

The youth estimates he spends about $55 for materials and he sells his kayaks for from $150 to $170. His mold cost $250. Marty prefers to help persons interesting in building their own boats, then sell the kayaks for a lesser price. "I'm interested in helping people who are really interested in the sport," he says.

Marty also rents kayaks and gives kayak lessons.

The Tamalpais junior says he can put a kayak into the water almost any place on the bay, one easy spot being the boat launching ramp at Turney Street in Sausalito.

He has two favorite runs. One is between Sausalito and Fort Baker where he goes in and out of caves in the rocks.

"Kayaks can go anywhere," said the youth, "they can go in three inches of water. I go under the bridge and into the sea. They are not the safest thing in the world but . . . look at automobiles."

KAYAK ON BAY

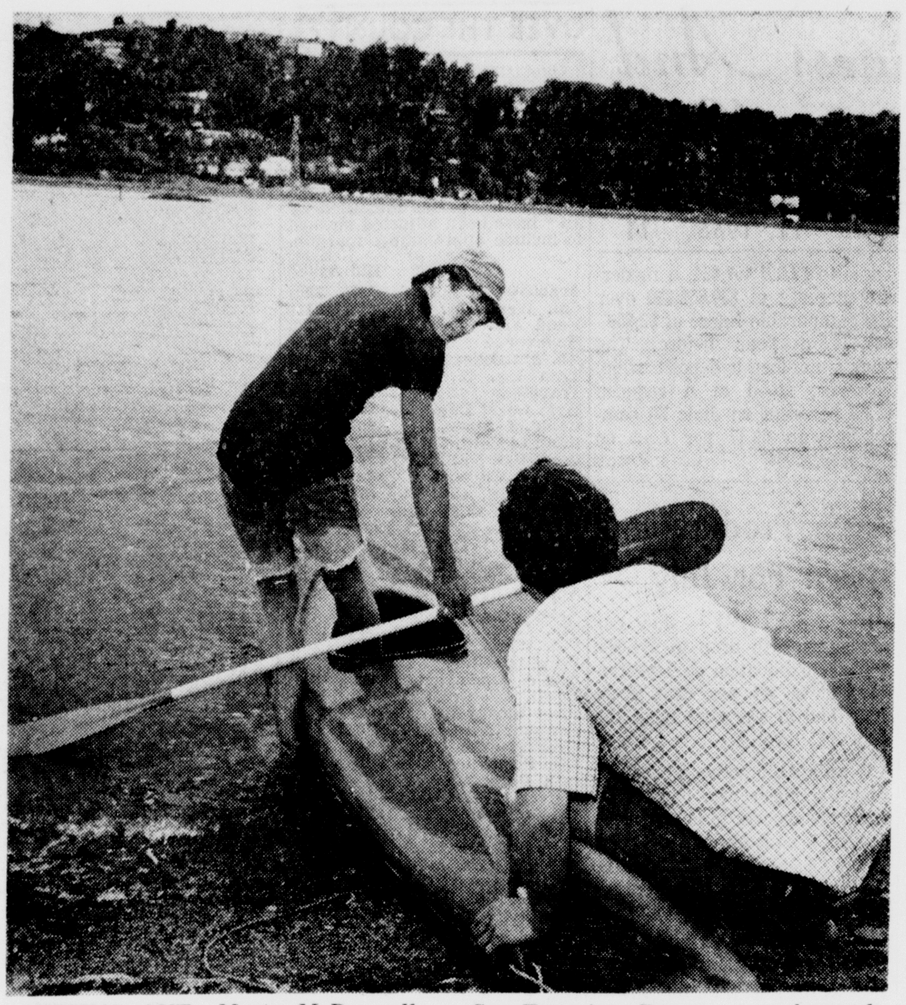
"I have kayaked all over the bay. I go along the shore and look at the guards and there is a court yard and you can see the prisoners walking around," at San Quentin.

In the winter, Marty paddles up the creek into Mill Valley. He goes as far as the Food King market and sometimes to Mill Valley Lumber Co. "It gets a little hairy in places," he declared. "You go under streets and over waterfalls."

As for surfing by kayak, which he does at Bolinas, Marty reports: "I have surfed with both kayak and surfboard and I find a kayak 100 per cent better."

The Eskimo roll, a complete roll-over, is used when you tip over or if you want to tip over. Asked how one recovers, Marty explained, "with a snap of the hips and use of the paddles."

The youth will work as oarsman this summer for Bryce Whitmore of El Sobrante, Contra Costa County. He will oar vacationers on a 15-man life raft on the Rogue, Klamath, American and Stanislaus rivers. "I prefer the rivers," said Marty. "The bay is flat water by comparison."



SETTING OUT—Marty McDonnell steps into his kayak for a day's outing that may take him any place on San Francisco Bay, or even beyond the Golden Gate. Holding it steady on the shore of upper Richardson Bay is friend Mark Allen.

Priest, Minister In Strike March

SAN JUAN, Tex. (AP) — A band of farm workers striking for higher wages sets out today on a 400-mile march to the state capital, accompanied by a Protestant minister and a Roman Catholic priest wearing a cowboy hat and the Star of David.

The strikers want union recognition and a $1.25-an-hour minimum wage for Mexican-American seasonal field hands who do stoop labor in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

The marchers plan to hike 56 days through hot and sparsely populated country.

'I Only Wanted To Scare,' Slaying Suspect Reports

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — "I only wanted to scare some people," Timothy Miller, 16, told a Superior Court judge.

The youth and three other suspects face murder charges in the slayings of two Negro transients in Sacramento's skid row. Sixteen suspects, all white, were arrested.

The victims, Harry Brown, 51, and Ernest Martin, 42, were fatally wounded by shotgun blasts fired from a moving car Tuesday.

Miller said the shooting was "accidental."

All the juveniles but one remained in custody today pending another hearing July 29. Judge Elvin Sheehy released Raymond Ornelas, 17, in a hearing Friday, noting he was the only juvenile without a police record.

The nine adult suspects were arraigned in Municipal Court.

Sheehy said he had reason to believe Miller and at least two other youths fought with some skid row inhabitants before the shooting.

Four suspects, all of whom from an area just west of here, were charged with murder. They were Miller; Arnold Lacenauer, 17; Bill Fallon, 23, and Epifanio Gutierrez, 21. The others are charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

Tools At Station

Marinwood residents who turned out to fight a fire that threatened homes July 3, and are still missing tools, might find them at the Marinwood Fire Station. Chief James Cameron said there are several tools at the station yet unclaimed.

Three Die In Air Crash Near Antioch

ANTIOCH (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board in investigating today to determine the cause of a light plane crash Saturday near Antioch in which three persons were killed.

The Contra Costa County sheriff's office identified the victims as Frank Wetch, 40, the pilot, of Pittsburg, Sam Donato, 40, of Antioch and Ray Rainey, 26, of Pittsburg.

The plane was on a short hop from Buchanan Field near Concord to Antioch Airport. Witnesses said the single-engine craft started dipping and diving and suddenly plummeted about 500 feet to the ground.

An airport spokesman said Wetch may have let one of the inexperienced men fly the plane, but the sheriff's office and the CAB had no comment on the possibility.

"TEEN-AGERS KNOW BEST what teen-agers like to wear" is the story on which the "Fashion Club" has been founded in Mill Valley. Members make clothes for sale to other teen-agers. Mrs. Edmond Gross and daughters, Vicki, (center), and Valerie, examine some of the garments submitted, noting with amusement the grasshopper design on the dress at right. Both of the girls are wearing their own handiwork.

Mother-Daughter Team Designing For Teen-Agers

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A mother-daughter enterprise is shaping up in Mill Valley that may be the answer to clothes problems and money-making for a lot of teen-age girls.

Starting with the intention of working together on something they would enjoy during the summer and believing teen-agers know best what teen-agers like to wear, Mrs. Edmond Gross and her two daughters decided to make and sell clothes especially designed for teen misses with the help of other teen-age girls.

We're feeling our way along on this," Joyce said. "Teen-agers and their tastes will guide us."

So enthusiastic were the girls' friends that they decided to expand the project in a big way by advertising for girls with sewing skill to join the project.

An ad run in the I-J resulted in 20 calls the first night, and to date there have been more than 90 from all over the county. This is not surprising considering how many girls are tired of baby-sitting at 50 cents an hour.

SEVEN OF THE girls are college students, and six are hoping to be professional designers.

The girls have been organized into "The Fashion Club," and a store has been rented at 371 Miller Avenue as a meeting place and sales outlet.

The shop, which has been named ValerieAnn's will not be open until after July 15. Everyone is busy working on stock.

In order to be accepted as a member of the club each girl had to bring a garment she had made herself, which was judged for excellence of workmanship and style by Joyce, Vickie and Val. The accepted garment then became part of the stock.

Some of the girls have taught themselves to sew and others have had three or four years of sewing instruction.

This is the way the plan works.

GIRLS SELECT their own fabrics and patterns and make garments fitting themselves in their sizes, which range from junior petites to teens and misses. Styles may be anything from bell-bottom slacks to formals, and selling prices may be as low as $5 for a simple shift to $50 for an original date dress.

They do the work at home and submit it for acceptance or rejection to the "board" consisting of Joyce, Vickie and Val. Every garment must be finished like an exclusive original.

They are paid for their material and a minimum of $1.25 an hour for their work. "For example, it takes about three and a half hours to make a simple dress," Joyce explained. "If the garment doesn't sell, the girl will have a new dress to add to her wardrobe."

THE SELLING price of the garment is determined by adding 40 per cent markup to the cost of material and work, with the 40 per cent going to overhead consisting of rent and utilities for the shop, advertising and compensation for Joyce's time as manager.

Vickie will keep the books and Valerie will do the window displays.

The club will meet in small sections once a month with every member paying $1 per six months as dues. Advantages are that the girls my exchange patterns and are given discounts on fabrics at local shops.

At the first meeting an interesting experiment was tried that proved something of an aptitude test for originality. From tissue paper patterns they made themselves, the girls created miniature garments from a big bag of scraps and trimmings.

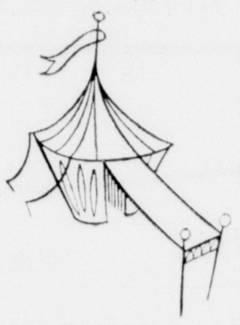
TESTING THE INGENUITY of the new Fashion Club in Mill Valley was the making of miniature garments from patterns members made themselves from tissue paper. Pinning them on a board for display is Adela Aldeguer of Mill Valley. Looking over her shoulder is Christine Cruickshank of Sausalito, wearing a red cotton shift she made.

AL FRESCO

Seven Luncheons Planned By Northgate



A pleasant summer tradition in Marin will continue for the 20th year on July 20, when the Northgate Group will present the first of seven al fresco luncheon and fashion shows under the trees of the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Co-sponsor of the event is the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc., with Mrs. Charles F. Eberle of Belvedere as general chairman, and Mrs. William B. Hickman of Greenbrae and Mrs. John H. Manwaring of Ross, chairmen of League volunteer waitresses.

League members who will display fashions are the Mesdames Robert Taylor, Clarence Amonette and Bennett of Ross and Benjamin Webb, Thomas Belshe, William Morris and Neil Fulton of Kentfield. Also the Mesdames Victor Burner of Larkspur, and Lee Gammill and Edgar Washburn of San Anselmo. Alternate League models are Mrs. Howard Banks of Mill Valley and Mrs. Charles Gompertz of San Rafael.

PROMENADING for the Northgate Group are Mrs. Henry Skinner of Ross, Mrs. Donald Smith of Mill Valley and Mrs. Frank Barsocchini and Mrs. John Willcutt of Kentfield.

General chairmen of the luncheon series which benefits the Marin Art and Garden Center are Mrs. Jackson Bennett and Mrs. Peter Skaer. Chairman for fashions is Mrs. Calvin Ewing and Mrs. Sydney Dorn and James Egger are working with sponsor groups. Mrs. Richard Mayer and Mrs. Robert Farley are co-chairmen of luncheon menus and Mrs. Dan Sweeney, Jr. and Mrs. Selwyn Graham have designed the table decorations. Mrs. Joseph Nicholson and Mrs. George McKenna are recruiating luncheon waitresses and Mrs. John Cummings and Walter Meier are charting seating arrangements. Mrs. Wilfred Harris, Mrs. Ralston Hodgson and Mrs. William Cuneo will direct table settings.

MRS. MURRAY Mackall and Mrs. William Upton head the punch committee and Mrs. Arthur Feidler and John Merryman are arranging for hostesses. Mrs. Russell Westover is planning the volunteer luncheons and Mrs. Laurence Dashiell has expedited promotion letters. On the publicity committee are the Mesdames Jay Hale, Leon C. Felton, J. William Zimmerman and H. Reed Volin.

Mrs. Clifford J. Flack will conduct tours of the Center grounds and Mrs. John Dowling is grounds chairman. Mr. Philip A. Nathan is cashier, Mrs. Raymond J. Zanzot, treasurer of events and Mrs. Frank Brown, house chairman. Mrs. H. Gordon Beesley handles reservations with Mrs. Edward J. Ruff as reservation coordinator.

Advisors for the series are Mrs. William J. Cassidy Jr., Mrs. Samuel G. Crowell and Mrs. Harvie M. Freed.

Punch is served at noon and luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Reservations must be made in advance with the Center.

PLANNING SUMMER PARTY

Miss Courter Weds Michael Cavanagh

Lenore Marie Courter of Fairfax became the bride of Michael Cavanagh of Mill Valley in a Saturday ceremony at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Courter of Fairfax. The Rev. John Sullivan officiated for the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in a gown of blue lace and crepe was Anne Maughan of San Francisco as maid of honor.

A reception followed the ceremony at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

The bride was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, College of Marin and attended San Francisco State College. She is the sister of Michael, Daniel, Joanne and Paul Courter of Fairfax. Mrs. Alice Courter of Oakland is her grandmother.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cavanagh of Mill Valley, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and Kansas State College. The couple will reside in Minneapolis, Minn., where the bridegroom will attend the University of Minnesota. He has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate work in English literature. Patricia Cavanagh of Mill Valley is his sister.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Revenge Often Boomerangs To Hit Sender The Hardest Blow

DEAR HELEN:

My husband does not speak to my parents who are in their 70's. It makes my heart bleed to think of them sitting alone on holidays, birthdays, etc. It makes it very hard for our boys, ages nine and 11, and for me.

Don't you think my husband should swallow his pride and at least visit them occasionally? This is the winter of their lives.

—TORN APART

DEAR TORN:

You didn't say, but I imagine your husband is getting even for slights he may not even fully remember.

I hope he realizes before it's too late that revenge is a boomerang which hits the sender, or those close to him, the hardest blow of all.

If you can't budge your mate, why not ask your parents to send him a note of reconciliation? Perhaps he wants to give in but pride won't let him take the first step. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Mrs. Mary Price had her 100th birthday on May 27th. If some of your readers would like to make a wonderful old lady very happy, they could send greetings to her at Maple Cliff Convalescent Home, 4 Stearns St., Saxonville, Mass. —FRIEND

DEAR HELEN:

I've been reading about marijuana and LSD and what I read worries me because many of the newspaper and magazine reports make this whole grimy business of so-called "non-addictive" drugs sound fascinating.

Young people who see these reports may think, "What's the harm—they don't hook you." Too often writers seem convinced on the side of drugs.

I wonder how many more college students joined pot parties after reading the recent series of articles on marijuana in one of our biggest magazines? Must writers, trying to play it cool imply this is "in"?

Can't we stop this whitewashing of something which, if allowed to continue, can cause untold damage? Has it occurred to these writers that cigarettes are considered "non-addictive" too, yet habits can be as hard to break as addiction—and the people who gravitate toward marijuana, LSD, etc., are the life-avoiding types who succumb to any habit that will keep them from everyday worries? They're the future "M.A.'s"—Marijuana Anonymous.

Publishers should have a moral obligation to our country, even if writers don't. It seems to me that the flood of literature on everything from dope to "sex is the friendliest thing" is nothing but propaganda. Most of our kids haven't bought it yet, hopefully, but the day will come, if this "Everybody does it, why not you?" rot continues. Especially if they're told "marijuana is the safest way to rebel." It isn't, believe me! It can kill.

You once said, Helen, "Are these writers reporting a trend or creating one?" and you could not be righter!

Why, why, why are they flooding the market with articles aimed at breaking down the morals and drive of our young people, implying it's square to be straight? —SCARED SQUARE

DEAR SQUARE:

I've said it before and I'll say it again: writers and publishers like to eat well, and sensationalism sells. Their newest approach is "Play it cool," and I'll go along with you — this semi-acceptance scares me green.

However, young people—more than adults — have learned to read with argument. Talk to them and you'll discover they aren't greatly influenced by their "chroniclers." They're making up their own minds and the majority still tend to be more square than "rounder" . . . Though, of course, it isn't "in" to come right out and say so. They "talk" rebellion, "act" conformist.

Let's hope the writing pendulum swings back—it will once the market is saturated. And always remember: READ WITH ARGUMENT! Controversial articles are written to make you think and disagree, not swallow and moan.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

of the work will be welcomed, Joyce said.

Mrs. Herbert Witt of Mill Valley, who teaches sewing in adult education classes at Tamalpais High School, has promised to be available to the club for special projects on a consultant basis.

Results of the enterprise will be formally introduced to the public in a fashion show benefit for the International Christian Youth Exchange program set for July 20 at1:30 p.m. in the parish hall of the Mill Valley Community Church.

THEY HOPE to be able to pay part of the expenses of their college education with proceeds from the classes.

New Method Found In Treating Burns

A new method for treating burns with a hexachlorophene cleanser reduces chance of infection and often diminishes the need for surgery, according to a report in the American Journal of Nursing.

A Phoenix, Ariz., research team reported on the successful treatment of 35 patients by bathing them in tepid water containing a three percent hexachlorophene cleanser, phisohex. Blisters were opened, debris removed and the patient again washed with the cleanser. Reduction of infection, prompt healing of deep second-degree burn wounds, and the absence of fever, were attributed to the new treatment. (UPI).

Glitter After Dark

Glitter continues for after-five wear in the new clothes collections. Sleeves are studded with sequins, collars are framed in them, and they border hemlines. Or, look for beading all-over.

WHERE SHE WILL WED

This is the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception where Luci Johnson will wed Patrick Nugent on Aug. 6. A 100 voice choir will sing and 700 persons will be invited, according to the White House. Luci is "the seventh daughter of a president to have a White House wedding during her father's term of office," according to statistics. (UPI Telephoto)

Glenda Hale Bride Of William Conklin

Glenda Elizabeth Hale and William Jeffrey Conklin, both of Mill Valley, were married Sunday in a 2 p.m. ceremony at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Hale of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Mortimer H. Conklin of Mill Valley.

When the bride was given in marraige by her father in the double ring nuptial rites performed by the Rev. William E. Mena, she was wearing a full length gown of white lace and peau de soie fashioned on empire lines with straight skirt.

Gowned in green peau de soie dresses fashioned on the same lines were the bride's sisters, Mrs. David Rentz of Berkley, matron of honor, and Barbara Ellen Hale of Mill Valley, bridesmaid.

Best man was Eugene Halverson of Camp Beale, and ushers were David Rentz of Berkeley and Steven Schilling and Victor Mattos of Mill Valley.

Present for the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Otis Gibson of San Francisco, and the bridegroom's Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Cullen of Mill Valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sausalito Woman's Club. After a brief honeymoon in Carmel the couple will live in Yuba City while the bridegroom is serving with the U.S. Air Force at Camp Beale.

The new Mrs. Conklin is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and before her marriage was employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in San Francisco. She is the sister of Douglas Michael Hale of Mill Valley.

Facts 'N Figures On Cooling Homes

The annual cost of warming and cooling a home today is less than the price of a good television set.

A study made in a cross-section of 37 cities by an air conditioning co. showed the average cost of year-around climate control for a normal three-bedroom home to be $194. The gas heating cost averages $123 and the electrical power for air conditioning was $71.

Picturesque Ranch Teaches Horsemanship To Teen-Agers

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI) — From Georgia to Hawaii, teenage girls travel to the picturesque Sodergren ranch 23 miles southwest of Laramie, Wyo.

They are lured by the irresistable combination of horses, mountains and high, clear mountain skies.

The school has a staff of qualified riding experts, and in charge is Mrs. Ellie Smith.

Each girl receives intensive instruction in riding, showmanship and in the care and training of horses.

IT'S A SCHOOL in every sense of the word. The girls are required to keep detailed notebooks on everything they are told.

Mrs. Smith raises and trains registered Arabian horses, and has lectured on her training methods and described them in a series of magazine articles.

She has more than 20 special horses, eight of them purebred Arabians.

Each of the girls learns to ride several different types of horses. The horsemanship training is blended smoothly into a full program of other activities.

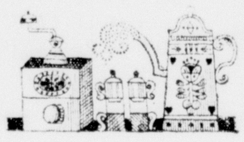
Last Minute Orders Are Her Cup Of Tea

By PEGGY POLK



NEW YORK (UPI) — Gertrude Dadushin is a sympathetic soul whose job is helping Park Avenue matrons in distress.

She's the lady to provide six dozen desserts for that perfect dinner party, 1,000 favors for wedding guests or something to send to your nephew who broke both legs skiing.

Mrs. Kadushin is manager and creator-in-chief for the Louis Sherry Gourmet and Bon Voyage Shop in the heart of New York's expensive upper East Side. She specializes in special requests.

"WE TRY TO SAY yes to anything and then we figure out how to do it," Mrs. Kadushin says. "The only thing we insist on is that the customer put herself entirely in our hands."

Her biggest problem is with customers who don't get around to placing their order until the last minute.

"The other day I got a call from a lady who wanted six dozen ice cream desserts the same night," Mrs. Kadushin said. "She tried to tell me her maid had ordered them several days before, but that was just a big flim flam."

NEVERTHELESS, the order was filled.

Mrs. Kadushin's famous customers rarely are any problem. "A lady called up during our Christmas rush a couple of years ago with an order. I told her we couldn't deliver because we were too busy but she could come and get it herself if she wanted to," Mrs. Kadushin said.

"SHE WAS VERY nice and grateful. Then I found out she was Mrs. Douglas MacArthur." Mrs. Kadushin filled a dessert ordered for Mrs. Albert Lasker, the art collector and philanthropist recently. "The next day I opened the paper and there was a story all about how the party was for Mrs. Lyndon Johnson."

"That," said Mrs. Kadushin, "was a nice surprise."

Cline-Linthicum Engagement Announced At Family Party

The engagement of Diane Linthicum of San Rafael to Jim Cline of Pacifica was announced recently at a family party given by Mrs. Donald G. Pozo of San Rafael, sister of the bride-elect.

The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Linthicum of San Rafael and has one other sister, Mrs. Ronald R. Crook, also of San Rafael. Her grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. William P. Linthicum and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Coombes of Alameda.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Cline of Pacifica are parents of the bridegroom. Living in that same city are his sisters, Mrs. John Tafuri and Cynthia Cline, and his brother, David Cline. His grandmother is Mrs. G. E. Reitz of Sacramento.

Diane was graduated from Mills High School in Millbrae and is presently employed in San Francisco. Having completed four years in the United States Air Force, her future husband, a graduate of Pescadero Union High School, is working as a radio mechanic with United Air Lines. He belongs to the California State Firemans Assn. and the Amateur Radio Relay League.

Their wedding will be held Sept. 3 at the First Baptist Church in Mill Valley. Following their marriage they will live on the Peninsula.

Russian Poet Is Answered By Steinbeck

GARDEN CITY N.Y. (UPI) — Nobel Prize-winning American novelist John Steinbeck today told Soviet poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko that "the guns would fall silent and our dear sons could come home" if Russia could persuade North Viet Nam to agree in good faith to negotiate.

STEINBECK CHIDED

In a poem published July 7 in a Moscow literary newspaper, Yevtushenko had chided Steinbeck, among others, for remaining silent on the Viet Nam war and urged him to protest the bombing raids on North Viet Nam and Hanoi.

Steinbeck replied to the Soviet poet in an open letter published in Newsday, for which he has been writing a nationally syndicated weekly column.

NOT HALF A WAR

The Pulitzer and Nobel prize-winning writer asked Harry F. Guggenheim, Newsday's editor and publisher, to make his copyrighted reply simultaneously available to all news media.

In so doing, Guggenheim noted that Steinbeck's 20-year-old son, John (Catbird) Steinbeck, is currently a U.S. soldier in Viet Nam.

Steinbeck's open letter read, in part: ". . . You know well how I detest all war, but for this one I have a particular and personal hatred. I am against this Chinese-inspired war. I don't know a single American who is for it. But . . . you asked me to denounce half a war, our half. I appeal to you to join me in denouncing the whole war.

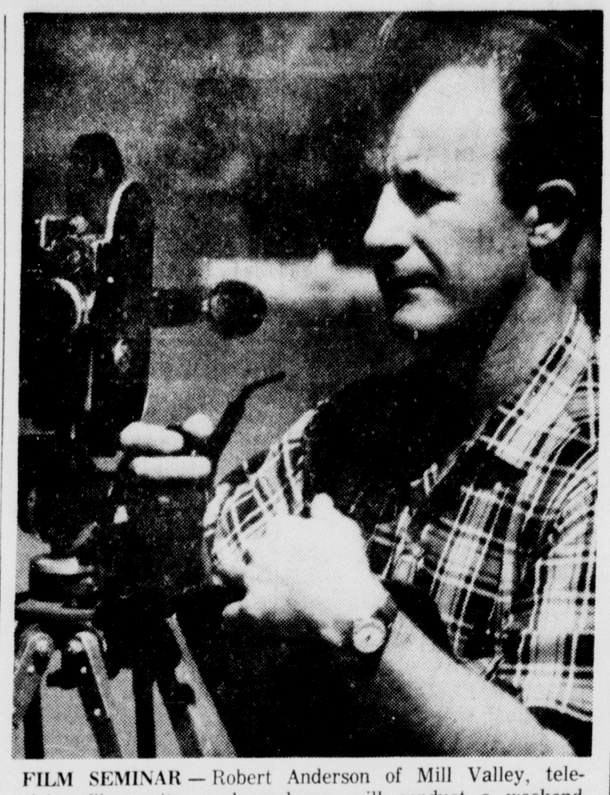
NOT EAST BERLIN

"Surely you don't believe that our 'pilots fly to bomb children,' that we send bombs and heavy equipment against innocent civilians? This is not East Berlin in 1953, Buddapest 1956, nor Tibet in 1959.

"You know as well as I do, Genya, that we are bombing oil storage, transport and the heavy and sophisticated weapons they carry to kill our sons. And where that oil and those weapons come from, you probably know better than I . .

"I hope you also know that if those weapons were not being sent, we would not be in Viet Nam at all . . .

"I beg you to use your very considerable influence on your people, your government, and on those who look to the Soviet Union for assistance, to stop sending the murderous merchandise through North Viet Nam to be used against the South . . ."



FILM SEMINAR — Robert Anderson of Mill Valley, television film writer and producer, will conduct a weekend seminar on the psychology of movies beginning Friday at Big Sur Hot Springs.

Film Maker To Speak At Esalen Institute

Documentary film writer and producer Robert Anderson of Mill Valley will conduct a weekend seminar Friday through Sunday on depth psychology of movies at the Esalen Institute of Big Sur Hot Springs.

Anderson has produced more than 60 films for KRON-TV's "Assignment Four" series, including documentaries which won awards from the New York International Film Festival, Associated Press, San Francisco Press Club, and National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Anderson will screen his film, "Not to Have Lived," a study of automated living.

San Rafael Boy Attends Science Camp

Robert Hempton of San Rafael, valedictorian for the Class of 1966 at Terra Linda High School, is one of two students representing California at the National Youth Science Camp at Bartow, W.Va.

The camp brings together the top 100 science students for three weeks of work and recreation in the Allegheny Mountains.

Officer Election Set

New officers will be elected by the Tomales Bay School District Board at a meeting today at 8 p.m. at Tomales School.

Murphy Opposes Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, saying he favors open housing, has announced his opposition to President Johnson's proposal to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of housing.

The California Republican said the administration proposal "was referred to as the most compulsive piece of legislation that one dean of a very famous law school ever saw" and said he opposes it "the way it was presented originally."

Murphy, appearing yesterday on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press," noted that discussions now are taking place that could result in a compromise version of the bill. He refused to say how he might vote until the bill is reported to the Senate.

Supervisors To Consider Jail Problem

Marin County supervisors tomorrow will consider the complaint of Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. over conditions in the county jail.

Judge Goldstein in June 27 letter to supervisors said he learned that 15 and more prisoners have been forced to sleep on the floor due to jail crowding and he criticized the lack of a guard within the jail to prevent prisoners from injuring each other.

The board of supervisors will meet at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Also on the agenda is a complaint by Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez over delays in work from the data processing department. County Administrator Alan Bruce has asked for 30 days to look into the situation.

CONCERT REVIEW

Director Programs Good Band Variety

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The first of the College of Marin Community Band's two summer concerts yesterday afternoon in the patio area of the gymnasium complex had a wide variety of appeal.

With his usual skill in program building, Director John H. Myers, within the framework of good music appropriate for a summer afternoon, chose numbers with considerable change of pace and content. Some were of special interest to children and others to adults with more sophisticated tastes.

That all were acceptably to well performed is a tribute to Myer's training, since the 44 players were of widely differing levels of proficiency.

Delightful for the children was a march medley by Edwin Franco Goldman composed of children's favorite songs, such as "Jingle Bells," "Three Blind Mice," and "Pop Goes the Weasel."

Adults more interested in complex musical elements were probably most impressed with "Feria," Frank Erickson's impressions of a Spanish festival, which tested the mettle of players with its rhythmic intricacies; Dick O. Wilson's arrangement of the Berceuse from Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite," notable for some smoothly sustained legato playing; "French Folk Suite" by Albert Oliver Davis, and "Symphonic Prelude" by John Cacavas.

Crowd pleasers were the lively potpourri of Offenbach's "Ballet Parisien" tunes in an arrangement by Merle J. Isaac and familiar selections from Meredith Willson's "The Music Man" arranged by Philip J. Lang. In the latter the excellent trumpet section was outstanding.

Also popular were the "Santa Ana's Retreat from Buena Vista" of Stephen Foster in an arrangement by Robert L. Leist, marches "Sesqui-centennial Exposition" and "The Gridiron Club" by Sousa and "Onward and Upward" by Edwin Franco Goldman. In the Goldman march the brasses negotiated some very tricky passages with flying colors.

In response to insistent applause the band played the deep river section of the "Deep River Suite" by Frank Erickson.

The second concert will be on July 24 at 3:30 p.m. in the patio area of the gymnasium complex, directed by Harold Settlemier.

Trial Rescheduled In Morals Case

Trial for two men charged with conspiring to contribute to the delinquency of a minor originally scheduled for today in Marin Superior Court, has been reset as a court trial Aug. 15.

Bruce Sequoia Birch,26, of 141 Irwin Street, San Rafael, and George Francis Grant, 24, San Francisco, allegedly persuaded a 16-year-old Tamalpais High School girl to pose in the nude in San Rafael last Oct. 30.

13 Hurt; One Dead In Cable Crash

CHAMONIX, France (UPI) — Metal fatigue may have caused the weekend cable car crash that killed one person and injured 13 others, officials said today.

An investigation into the cause of the Saturday crash that sent three cars plunging 100 feet into the "white valley" in the shadow of Mont Blanc, is stilt under way.

But officials speculated the metal axle that snapped and sent the first car plummeting may have broken because of metal fatigue. This loss of strength in metals has been blamed for some air crashes.

Liberty Ship Sinks After Springing Leak

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard said a Liberty ship trying to make port at Norfolk, Va., for repairs to a leak sank early today 23 miles south southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The 32-man crew had abandoned ship shortly before it sank at 1:10 a.m. The crew was picked up from lifeboats by the tanker Hess Petrol and were to be transferred today to a Coast Guard vessel off Cape Henry, Va.

Stray Lumber Cuts Three Motorists

Four persons escaped serious injury when a six-foot piece of lumber from the roof of another car flew through the windshield of their car on the Richardson Bay Bridge at 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the lumber toppled from an unidentified car which was traveling in an adjacent lane.

Homer A. Alfred, 50, of 140 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael, the driver, escaped injury, but three of his passengers suffered minor cuts from flying glass.

His wife, Audrey, 47, and Mrs. Suzette Garrison, 20, of Tiburon Boulevard, suffered minor facial cuts, and Crystal Garrison, six weeks, suffered cuts of the right hand and forehead. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Marinite Picked By Ukiah Chamber

A resident of Larkspur for 13 years, Henderson was a salesman for Diamond National Corp. in San Francisco.

Henderson was president of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce when it hired an attorney to appear before the State Supreme Court in a successful effort to force supervisoral redistricting.

He was named in the 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America." He was on the executive board of the Marin County Young Republicans.

Batman Knows About Fires

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Batman got into the fire safety act this year in the state poster contest for school children.

One entry asked: "Do YOU know how to report a fire?"

Winners For 'Youth In The News'

Hub Housewife, College Coed Have Top Estimates

A San Anselmo housewife and a College of Marin co-ed won top honors in the Independent-Journal's "Youth in the News" contest on stories that appeared last month.

The trick was to estimate how many news stories that were favorable to youth would appear in the I-J in June.

When the count was over, there were 258 youth stories that were judged to be favorable, including sports and society news. A separate, non-contest count showed that there were 77 considered unfavorable to youth.

Ann Figone, 19, of 4 Lillian Lane, San Rafael, won first place in the competition for persons under 21. She came the closest of all contestants, just one off the mark, with her estimate of 259 favorable youth stories.

"I just guessed," she admitted.

Mrs. Cecil F. Ormond of 195 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, who did check a few newspapers, was the winner in the adult competition.

Mrs. Ormond, with an estimate of 263, edged out Mrs. Elsa Kogler of 10 Echo Avenue, Corte Madera, who estimated 264 favorable youth stories.

Savings bonds totaling $500 were awarded to the winners, four in the adult category and four for those under 21 years of age. First prizes were $100 U. S. savings bonds; second $75 bonds; third, $50 bonds and fourth, $25 bonds.

Runner-up in the adult division were Mrs. Kogler, second; Mrs. M. B. Boissevain, 2081 Center Road, Novato, third and Lt. Col. Solomon J. Jamerson, 843 Del Ganado Road, San Rafael, fourth.

Mrs. Boissevain and Colonel Jamerson submitted identical estimates of 250, but under the contest rules the entry with the first postmark took priority.

Runner-up in the youth division were Wade Saunders, 2 Grove Hill Avenue, San Anselmo, (241); Elodie Macondray, 1318 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, (239), and Bill Cirimele, 298 Arias Street, San Rafael (230).

The stories were reviewed and evaluated by four consultants: Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools; Paul Miller, journalism instructor at College of Marin; Mrs. Lillian Seavor, journalism lecturer at Dominican College, and Edward J. Neumeier, coordinator of public information for Tamalpias High School District.

At the close of the contest Neumeier said:

"One of the prevailing myths about newspapers seems to be that they go out of their way to print derogatory news about young people.

"Having worked a number of years in both jornalism and education I've been aware that such an impression is just that —a myth. The Independent-Journal's Youth in the News contest is a reliable indicator of the fallacy.

"Unfortunately most newspaper readers don't see the paper as a whole. Too often a reader gets a stronger impression from something with which he is emotionally involved. Those who care about, including youth themselves, often react strongly to what seems critical and passively to what is positive.

"This exposition of a sampling in the I-J attempts to put forth the whole picture and dispels the myth."

At the outset, the I-J observed that since stories would need evaluation, there would be some that would lie in a "grey" zone where they might be considered favorable by some or unfavorable by others. In these instances, the majority ruling of the conslultants prevailed.

For example, there was the story of the Oregon co-ed editor who wouldn't reveal the names of those she interviewed about marijuana to authorities.

The consultants ruled that stories concerning her activities were favorable because she kept her promise to those interviewed not to reveal their names and because she adhered to the ethics of her chosen profession.

Ormond, 195 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, at the I-J office. Miller was one of four contest consultants.

Salary Hike For Nurses Recommended

Amount of the increase will be studied later this week at another meeting of the committee, personnel director Gary Nelson said.

Operating room nurses at the hospital threatened on July 1 to resign this coming Friday, effective July 30, if their demands for higher salaries and improved working conditions were not met. They asked a $1.25 wage hike to $3.75 an hour, which would raise starting salaries to $600 a month, up from the present $430.

Mass resignations have been threatened at other Bay Area hospitals, and 91 of 106 nurses at Eden Hospital in Castro Valley resigned yesterday, crippling the hospital.

Hospital authorities said they believed it was the first time in the United States that hospital nurses had resigned en masse.

Prowler Captured In Corte Madera

A 17-year-old youth who, police said, admitted after-dark prowling of homes in Corte Madera, Larkspur and Fairfax, was arrested today by Corte Madera police a few hundred yards from the police station.

The youth was intercepted by officers Charles Brobeck and William Reed at Sausalito Street and Manzanita Avenue at 2:19 a.m. Police were helped in the arrest by a resident, Steven E. Antz of 615 Oakdale Avenue, whom police found walking the streets in search of the prowler.

Antz said he had been disturbed from sleep by a noise and was determined to catch the prowler.

Over the past five months, police have received more than 20 complaints from residents who said they saw a man walking into their bedrooms in the dead of night. One girl said she was awakened by the prowler shaking her by the shoulder.

Police said the 17-year-old admitted he was responsible for the after-dark calls, and did it "because I like to see people scared. Sometimes I made eerie noises.

"I would run away and then hide outside to wait for the police department to arrive. I always wanted to get caught but I panicked when I saw the patrol car."

The youth, who police said also admitted walking into homes in Heather Gardens, Larkspur, and in Fairfax, was booked into Juvenile Hall on charges of prowling and curfew violation. He told police he had lived alone in a Corte Madera apartment for the past two years. His mother lives in Kentfield.

Three Injured In Collision

Three San Francisco residents were slightly injured when their car was involved in a rear-end collision on Highway 101 ner Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, at 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

Treated at Novato General Hospital were Roberta L. Carrara, 44, for a strained back, Edith F. Whelton, 50, for multiple cuts and bruises, and Juliet T. Carrara, 8, for a cut left cheek. They were passengers in a car driven by Romeo R. Carrara, 15.

The California Highway Patrol reported Carrara had slowed his car for heavy southbound traffic when it was hit by another car driven by Everett E. Pedigon, 24, of Redwood City. The impact spun Carrara's car around and forced it into the center divider, the patrol said.

Son, Mother Report UFO In Mill Valley

Gary Kyer telephoned Mill Valley police at 8:46 p.m. Friday, reporting that he and his mother had just seen an unidentified flying object flying over the Kyer residence and landing on a fire trail on Corte Madera Grade. The Kyers reside at 597 Ethel Avenue.

Police checked the area, met a man who had been there for an hour but who reported he had not observed anything unusual.

CHILDREN'S TRUST

Mason Saves Beach Land For Inverness

John S. Mason, life-long resident of Inverness, surprised members of the Inverness Improvement Assn. Saturday with announcement that he will purchase beach land to be held in trust for the children of Inverness.

Mason, whose criticism of the association has caused frequent disputes, was applauded vigorously at the group's annual meeting in Inverness School.

He said he has put up a $500 deposit on "Brock's Wharf," an old wharf and boathouse owned by the late Brock Schreiber.

The property separates two parcels owned by the Inverness Foundation, purchased several years ago by residents and known as Children's Beach. Brock's Wharf was base for a Tomales Bay Tour boat operated by Schreiber.

Battles expected Saturday over charges levelled by L. J. Meszaros in a letter of resignation from the association did not materialize.

Meszaros charged that the association was captive of special interests and referred to its protest against a marina adjacent to land held by Peter D. Whitney, like Meszaros a member of the board of directors.

Whitney, whose term on the board expired, was not re-elected Saturday. Named were Richard Plant, Dr. Homer Kesten, John G. Call and Elmer V. Williams. Williams was nominated from the floor, while the others were named by a nominating committee.

In an organization meeting yesterday, Fall was named president, Williams, vice president, Patricia Wright, secretary, and Dr. Arthur Gordon, treasurer.

Bradley Says Aid Request Caused By Injury To Arm

An arm injury, not reprisal for election opposition, was the reason for Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley's request that undertakers send two men on coroner's calls, according to Bradley.

The assistant coroner explained the request in a reply Saturday to a complaint to the county board of supervisors by Gerald T. Gooch of Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Gooch had charged that Bradley was harassing him for supporting Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, who defeated Bradley for coroner in the June 7 election.

"On June 24, 1966 I injured my right arm during the performance of my duties as assistant coroner," Bradley wrote chairman Byron W. Leydecker of the board of supervisors.

"Since then I have been physically unable to lift heavy objects. Accordingly, I have advised all morticians with whom I have had occasion to contact, that it would be necessary to send two men on all coroner's calls. Mr. Gooch is the only mortician who has complained.

"The coroner has abided strictly with the attorney general's opinion referred to in Mr. Gooch's letter." (This referred to a statement by Gooch that coroner's cases were being routed to mortuaries owned by Coroner Frank J. Keaton, which the attorney general had held would constitute a conflict of interest).

Continued Bradley: "We have scrupulously refrained from in any manner influencing or attempting to influence the next of kin in the selection of a mortuary.

"Mr. Gooch's accusation that I am harrassing him is completely and totally false."

Mill Valley Man Held For Checks

Rodney A. Smalley, 26, was held today in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,650 bail on charges of passing bad checks.

Smalley was arrested Saturday at Oak Tree Inn, San Geronimo, where he has been staying. His previous address was 369 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Fairfax Police Chief James Orr said Smalley, no known occupation, had passed checks in Mill Valley, Fairfax and San Anselmo totalling more than $200 and drawn on a closed account at the Mill Valley branch of the Bank of America.

Fishing Gear Stolen

James C. Rear of 226 Bella Vista Avenue reported to Belvedere police that fishing gear worth $95 was stolen from his unlocked dockside locker at the Corinthian Yacht Club Saturday or yesterday morning.

Cash Box, $150 Taken From Shop

A cash box containing $150 was reported stolen Saturday morning by Herbert Siebert, 810 Third Street, San Rafael.

Entry was through a rear wooden door. A hole was hacked through the door with a tire jack handle. The cash box was hidden behind a garbage can under the service counter in the front of the shop.

Firemen Stifle Grass Blaze

San Rafael firemen quickly halted a grass, brush and tree fire yesterday in the Black Canyon area where a 340-acre fire threatened many homes in 1964.

The fire broke out at 2:55 p.m. at the north end of Aquinas Drive, Dominican Heights, and burned three-quarters of an acre, the fire department reported.

Guide Dog Flees San Rafael Kennel

Escape of a guide dog was reported yesterday by Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael. The five-year-old female German shepherd is black with silver markings. Her name is "Winnie."

What will the others be worth a year from now?

The Cadillac car holds its value far beyond any other automobile at or near its price. Let your Cadillac dealer explain today why now, more than ever, it's great . . . going Cadillac!

There is one simple way to measure the worth of any other luxury car: compare it to the way a Cadillac keeps its value. For Cadillac is the grand champion in this most telling of all motor car tests—and at resale returns a higher percentage of its original cost than any other car built in the land. There are many reasons. The first is Cadillac quality—recognized wherever automobiles are known. Then there is Cadillac beauty and luxury—so advanced that the car retains its desirability long after others have lost their appeal. And there is Cadillac safety, performance, dependability and operating economy. What will your car be worth a year—or even three years—from now? If it's a Cadillac, the answer is predictably pleasant. Get the facts today from your authorized dealer. He's an expert in serving the world's most demanding motorists—and his interest in your complete satisfaction will continue throughout your ownership. Isn't it time you put a Cadillac in your life?

Garden Fair Enjoyed Despite Some Flaws

Be that as it may, the fair during the Fourth of July weekend is always a pleasant experience. It provides a site for leisurely strolling under the trees and a chance to renew acquaintances and view the attractive displays and landscaped garden exhibits.

Some of the complaints this year centered around the imitation lake and the exposed plastic covering. Leaks in the lake caused muddy spots, and an occasional dead goldfish could be seen floating belly-up.

While some of the adults were heard to grumble about the lake and its flaws, many of the small fry found the water and mud a source of great delight.

As usual the art displays were controversial. Many complained that there was too much abstract work that is meaningless to the laymen. Some artists responded that the fair draws too many critics who are ignorant in the arts.

The general admission price went up from $1 to $1.25, but children under 12 were admitted free as in the past. While this is not a prohibitive price, the policy makers of the Fair should take into account the fact that the event is subsidized directly and indirectly by tax dollars. Popular prices should be maintained so that the admission will be no bar to the modest income families.

Those who neglected to hike up to the Barn to see the Camera Club display certainly missed one of the brightest spots in the Fair.

A sprinkling of color photos added to the magnificent display.

Congratulations to the Ross Valley Camera Club for its best-ever display. We hope they will be back next year with a presentation that is equal to this year's.

Good, bad or indifferent, the Marin Art and Garden Fair is always a pleasant experience to which we look forward each year to ah, oh, and hmmph.

CANDID MOVIES HELP ALCOHOLICS

They often begin to realize that excessive drinking, not some outside force, is responsible for their failures.

The alcoholics see themselves on the screen as others see them. They hear themselves answer questions about their personal lives with obvious attempts at circumventing the truth. Then they begin to take themselves in hand.

"What the movie does is to get them wanting to help themselves for the first time," said one doctor.

Anyone who is objective enough to see his faults as God sees them—and as other people do—has taken the first big step towards redeeming himself.

Encourage those who are victims of their own weaknesses to be honest with themselves and you will help them to help themselves.

"First take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye."

Old Age Security Budget Share Could Help Shape State Politics

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Tucked away in Gov. Edmund G. Brown's $4.6 billion budget for 1966-67 is a $5 million item providing funds for the enhancement of old age security payments to California's elderly citizens.

The story of how it got there, and the restrictions imposed by the Legislature on disbursement of the funds is one which conceivably could have a lot to do with politics from now on.

During the 1965 legislative session, federal old age insurance payments were increased. For individuals in California who were being paid both through old age insurance from the federal government, and old age pensions through the state and county governments, however, the increase lasted only three months, as the state decreased its payments to the extent of the raise voted by the federal.

OBVIOUSLY, THIS caused much consternation among the senior citizens of the state, and particularly those who supported the old age organization of senior citizens headed by the late George McLain, and now by his former lieutenant, Myrtle Williams, one-time state director of social welfare.

The organization in 1965 sponsored legislation to retain the pension increases, but the legislation was lost in the final hours of the session. Later, it sought the item as a part of this year's special session call. Brown, however, refused, according to Mrs. Williams, to include the item in his 6 per cent matters called for the extraordinary session.

After some extensive maneuvering, the old age lobby managed to get the 5 million dollar item amended into the governor's budget, and it was passed along with the rest of the budget.

The upshot of the legislative action this year is that the old age pensioners will receive up to $4 per month increase in their pension checks, based on their "need" for additional payments.

SOCIAL WELFARE officials said this will affect approximately 85 per cent of the pensioners, but not all of them will receive the full $4 increase, only those who can justify the need. Payments of the additional money are scheduled to start in August the department announced.

The political implications are that the senior citizens are somewhat unhappy with Governor Brown because of the long delay in securing the small increase in their monthly pension checks.

THE ORGANIZATION, in fact, has not been happy with the governor since 1962 when McLain sought the Democratic nomination for governor against Brown, and polled a not inconsiderable vote. And the relationship appears to be much worse this year, because actual cash is involved.

Heed Voices Of Past As Election Nears

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As election time draws nigh, it behooves us all to take time to study the issues at stake . . . As we reflect on past elections we see that the matter of taxation has always been uppermost in the consideration of domestic policies. With the advent of World War I and every election thereafter, taxation became the central issue as our foreign policy was dictated by our foreign aid.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, offered some sound advice to the Japanese upon the signing of the Peace Treaty in 1951 . . . The following points stand out vividly and apply to any nation seeking to advance its political, economic and social stability:

"Public morality is the touchstone to the people's faith in the integrity of the governmental process.

"Restraint and frugality in the use of the public purse produces economic stability, encourages individual thrift and minimizes the burden of taxation.

"Avoidance of the excessive centralization of the political power safeguards against the danger of totalitarian rule — undue paternalism in government tends to sap the creative potential and impair initiative and energy in those who thereby come to regard governmental subsidy as an inalienable right."

. . . Thomas Jefferson was also giving sound advice to the voters of his era . . .

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence we must not let our leaders load us with perpetual debt . . . " We are endeavoring to reduce the government to the practice of rigid economy to avoid burdening the people and arming the magistrate with a patronage of money which might be used to corrupt the principle of government."

Would that our elected officials and those of us exercising our privilege to vote, heed these great voices of the past! T'would be a certain remedy for many of the evils that befall us.

Shark Symbol Of New City

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Robert A. McLennan of Mill Valley in his letter published in the I-J on July 5 takes issue with the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce for presenting the City of Tiburon a flag bearing the insignia of a deadly shark.

His statement that "whoever dreamed up the shark flag must have been standing on his head too long" is probably correct. As president of the chamber I am responsible for having the shark placed on the original art work for the Tiburon flag which was presented to the Tiburon City Council and approved by them with Councilmen Bremer and Strawbridge assisting in the final design sketch.

Mr. McLennan's statement that "no sensible financier would portray this image on his place of business" is not correct as Mr. Charles Tijerina of the Tiburon National Bank uses the shark insignia on all the bank's checks and letterheads.

Mr. McLennan wonders what Old Glory would say about a shark floating in the breeze beside her but I wonder what Old Glory would say about the Eagle perched above her on the flagstaffs throughout the nation. The predatory Eagle, a much criticized creature, is also the emblem stamped on U.S. coins, printed on paper money and a part of the great seal of the United States. The City of Tiburon will include the shark within a ship's wheel on their new City Seal . . .

Tiburon is the Spanish word for shark. The Spanish navigator, Manuel Ayala dropped anchor in Hospital Cove on Angel Island in 1775. Punta De Tiburon, Point Tiburon, on the mainland was so named by Lt. Ayala, reputedly the first white man to sail into San Francisco Bay.

The name Tiburon was associated with the peninsula bearing its name when in 1834 it became part of the first land grant in Marin County from the Mexican government to John Thomas Reed. It became the name of the new city on June 23, 1964 and will probably continue to bear the Spanish name of a large fish of the sea for years to come.

In answer to the last sentence in Mr. McLennan's letter, "Woe is Woe — How could you Chamber of Commerce" . . . the foregoing is how the Chamber could and why it was done.

Fairfax Police Chief Draws Citizen Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today it is not unusual for our Police Departments to be adversely criticized at the slightest opportunity, but I feel compelled to write this letter of commendation concerning Chief Orr and his men, of the Fairfax Police Department.

It has been my personal experience in the past to have several problems requiring the help of the Fairfax police, and in particular Chief Orr. One was a rather large sum of money that was given to me in the form of a bad check. I was invited in and given courteous, personal, and prompt attention. The matter was corrected in three days by Chief Orr.

Also while I was there, I had the opportunity of overhearing a conversation between Chief Orr and a lady who was obviously in financial trouble. Chief Orr was so kind, and offered her his personal services and added that police were there to offer her all possible assistance. He also added if the children needed to get to the doctors or the hospital, the police would be glad to assist her. I felt real pride and a sense of well being knowing he was in charge of matters there.

Any time I have approached the police with a problem, they have been kind, fair and fast acting. Many people in the community have reported the same good things about Chief Orr and his crew.

Chief Orr has certainly won the love, respect and deep admiration that are so rightfully his. I feel a great sense of pride being a part of such a fine community, and to be protected by such a fine police force.

ATTORNEY A. J. Priest recalls the long-past day when the Payette Valley Railroad, now part of the Union Pacific, was run independently on a shoestring by one Hyrum E. Dunn. Came the day when the Payette Valley's one and only locomotive broke down and was dead-headed into Salt Lake City for repairs — if possible. Dunn sent this telegram to the foreman of the Salt Lake yards: "Please return whistle on my broken-down engine. The Troy Steam Laundry from whom I borrowed it wants it back."

AUBREY MENNEN once asked a cheerful old Hindu pundit, "In this world of illusion, is there anything you believe in as real?" "Certainly," was the answer. "Three things: God, human folly, and laughter, and since the first two pass our comprehension, we must do what we can with the third."

Prestige Of Governors Decreases; Way To Top The Senate

LOS ANGELES—It begins to look as if the once prestigious governors are, for the most part, becoming a rather dull breed with declining influence.

I find that most of the senior newspaper correspondents, who are here from nearly every state, found this 58th national Governors' Conference to be an empty and bland session.

And this isn't just a rare exception. It's a trend. It is the consequence of the one-sided federal-state relationship. This shows itself in two ways:

THE MOUNTING power of the federal government not only means declining power on the part of the states but declining power on the part of the state governors.

Secondly, because national and foreign affairs so preoccupy the nation, the Senate has become the most likely ladder to the presidency. This is why Robert Kennedy would rather be senator than governor.

It is not accidental, I suspect, that not once since FDR went from Albany to the White House in 1932 has a governor been elected president. A few —Landon, Dewey, and Stevenson—won the nomination, but none won the prize. Apart from Eisenhower, the winning candidates—Truman, Kennedy, and Johnson — have all been senators. The last five vice presidents—Truman, Barkley, Nixon, Johnson, and Humphrey — all came from the Senate.

THE PERIOD of the political eclipse of the state executives literally began with the birth of big government in Washington under the impact of the depression and the aegis of the New Deal. Since that date no governor has gone to Washington except to ask for handouts or to protest that state's rights were being taken away from him.

One governor, who has attended eight of these annual sessions, told me that when he read the program spaced out for the meetings this week he remarked to a colleague: "What a waste of time this year."

It proved to be that way.

There are three main purposes to these governors' conferences:

1. The governors like to get acquainted with each other, measure how their colleagues perform, and exchange headaches—a harmless pastime.

2. They examine differing approaches to common state problems, but they talk most about how to get more money with fewer strings from the federal government. When President Eisenhower really tried to return to them some federal functions plus the sources of revenue to perform them, the governors ran away like scared deer.

3. They want to get national exposure for the role of the governors, but in recent years they have gotten less publicity because of their declining role. It declined so far that the governors in 1963—with the Democrats in the lead—hobbled themselves by abolishing their own resolutions committee to avoid speaking out on controversial issues. Under the latest rules it takes unanimity by the executive committee and a three-fourths vote by all attending to enable the governors' conference to say anything.

Health Aide Fund Is Being Held Up

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—U.S. Public Health Service auhorities are indignantly blaming Anti-Poverty Director Sargent Shriver for a serious shortage in the Medicare program.

Last August the Office of Economic Opportunity, the anti-poverty agency headed by Shriver, was given the job of training home health aides to meet anticipated Medicare needs, and President Johnson announced OEO would spend $20 million in an immediate training program.

To date, not a single nurse's helper has been trained by OEO.

ON JUNE 29, just two days before the start of Medicare, OEO finally got around to launching a "pilot" training project.

Scheduled to run some six months and cost $1 million, this long-delayed undertaking will, hopefully, produce 811 qualified home health aides. Public Health officials say there is an immediate need for 10,000, and by next year this time for 40,000 to 50,000.

Under the Medicare law elderly patients are allowed up to 100 home visits by nurses or health aides.

THE "PILOT" training project is being conducted in nine states: Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Massachusetts, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. OEO is contracting with a state, county and city health agencies and nurses' organizations for this training, under the supervision of the U.S. Public Health Service.

There is no indication whether OEO contemplates follow-up training projects, or when they might be launched. No OEO official is willing to discuss the matter.

Backstage reason for OEO's foot dragging is reluctance to put up the money to cope with this vital Medicare program.

Although President Johnson was very specific that $20 million would be spent to train home health aides, and Health Service officials pleaded with OEO to act, Shriver and his lieutenants did nothing. Instead, they allocated OEO funds for youth-oriented "glamor" programs—such as Head Start, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Job Corps, Community Action, Legal Service, etc.

"YOUTH PROGRAMS are where the pay-off is," candidly admitted an OEO official. "The principal aim of the war on poverty is to create economic opportunities. It is inevitable under such a program that youth and not the elderly get the breaks and most of the money."

Public Health Service authorities, gravely concerned about the success of the new Medicare system, don't see it that way.

"THE HOME HEALTH aides situation is desperate," says a public health official. "We need thousands of trained nurse's helpers, and we need them right away. Their lack could seriously impair the whole Medicare program. Doctors will be reluctant to discharge patients from hospitals when they know adequate care will not be available in their homes. That's why Congress wrote this provision into the law."

A leading jewelry store in San Francisco lists the silver pattern Luci Baines Johnson has selected, presumably for the information of friends and others who want to give her a wedding gift. The pattern is "Old Maryland Engraved," at $64.50 a place setting . . . George Killion, recently retired president of American President Lines, is being boosted by friends for appointment as Federal Maritime Administrator — to succeed Nicholas Johnson, who was shifted to the Federal Communications Commission. Killion has potent Democratic ties, having been national treasurer under President Truman.

The Corte Madera Creek Troll? Has The Ark Angel Vanquished

He looked at the creek and mentally converted its flow into feet per second. It was the same as yesterday.

He breathed the air and calculated the percentage of oxygen, and that also was the same. Still there was something wrong.

It seemed to him that the arks where the Little People lived had moved slightly to the east. Perhaps the whole creek had moved. But Fludkin decided that this was not possible. Whatever was wrong, he would ignore it.

BUT THE NEXT morning when he looked out from under the bridge, it seemed that the arks had moved even more. Fludkin was worried. He was afraid he would have to have a meeting with the Ark Angel.

But he did not like to meet with the Ark Angel, mainly because the Ark Angel did not look at things the way a troll looks at things.

When the Ark Angel looked at the creek, he did not see water flowing at so many feet per second. He saw ripples where the wind touched down, and he saw ducks feeding, and he saw silver bass swimming in the shadow of the bank.

WHEN THE ARK Angel breathed the air, he did not calculate the ratio of gases as the troll did. The Ark Angel savored the smell of the salt marshes and sighed in thankfulness for the cool morning breeze.

Fludkin thought the Ark Angel was a little queer.

STILL WHEN Fludkin and the Ark Angel had meetings, as they often did after a big winter flood, the Troll always went away with the feeling that the Ark Angel had gotten the best of him.

This was not the way it was supposed to be. Troll had scientific knowledge on his side and hundreds and hundreds of years of engineering experience behind him.

Now as Fludkin looked out on the arks, it seemed that the Ark Angel had once again gotten the best of him.

In fact, it appeared that some of the arks had shifted so far they were on property of the Arksdiocese.

FLUDKIN DID NOT like to think about this possibility at all. What if the Little People found out about it?

Fludkin shivered. Sometimes it was very, very difficult being a troll, but he knew that no one, except for another troll, could ever understand.

Ready For First Supersonic Flight? Prepare To Sit Around For Hours

"Good day, ladies and gentlemen, this is your captain speaking, and I'm happy to announce that this is the first supersonic flight from New York to Paris. We will be flying at an altitude of 60,000 feet and a speed of 1,800 miles an hour. Our flying time from New York to Paris will be two hours and 45 minutes. Now; please fasten your safety belts and we will be ready to take off . . .

"Ladies and gentlemen, I know you're wondering what the delay is, as we have been on the ground waiting to take off for the past two hours. Unfortunately, air traffic conditions are very heavy at this hour and we have been asked to hold here on the runway. We are now the 20th in line for take-off. . . .

"WELL, FOLKS, we've been moving up as you might have noticed and we are now second in line. I'm sorry these last four hours have been so difficult, but the tower has assured us we will get clearance to take off in the next hour or so. . . .

"May I have your attention please. It appears that there are more planes in the pattern than was expected, and we've been asked to hold further. Why don't you all relax? I've turned the 'No Smoking' light off . . .

"Ladies and gentlemen, we have finally been cleared for take-off. Would you all please relax? I apologize for the six-hour delay at the runway, but this is something we have no control over . . .

"WELL, FOLKS, we seem to have broken some sort of record. Our flying time to Paris was 2 hours and 31 minutes. Unfortunately, there are many planes circling the Orly airport and we've been asked to fly over to Copenhagen and hold there at 55,000 feet. Paris assures us that as soon as it is feasibly possible they will permit us to make an approach . . .

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is your pilot speaking. Since I last spoke to you 90 minutes ago I regret we have not been encouraged by Paris to come in and they have asked us to maintain altitude and fly in a pattern over Sicily. The stewardess tells me there seems to be a shortage of drinks and water, so we are putting everyone on rations of one glass of water each.

"ALSO, I'M SORRY to say we have run out of food.

"Some of you have complained about seeing the movie four times, so for the next two hours we'll play stereophonic music instead.

"You'll be kept informed as to our progress . . .

"Folks, this is the captain again. I know you're all very tired and hungry and thirsty and so am I, but trying to knock down my door is not going to help anybody. We should be getting the green light from Paris any time now.

"We've just heard from Paris and we are now in the pattern and will be permitted to land within the next hour. Please fasten your safety belts . . .

"THIS IS YOUR captain again. As you can gather we are on the ground at Orly, France. Unfortunately there doesn't seem to be any room at the ramp and we've been asked to wait out here until someone leaves. It should not be more than 40 or 50 minutes.

"Well, here we are at the terminal and I hope you've enjoyed your first supersonic flight. I'm happy to announce we beat the Queen Mary's record by four hours and 12 minutes."

Report Is Due On Annexation

Belvedere City Mgr. William L. Cavalli will report to the city council tonight on his discussions with the Tiburon Sanitary District board on possible annexation to the district.

At the 8 p.m. meeting in Community Hall, the council will discuss the ins and out of annexation. The district is favorable to the proposal, but the city council is not expected to take any action as an agreement has been reached not to act without first notifying Tiburon.

The council will also award a contract for the Beach Road resurfacing project, estimated to cost $50,000.

Mobile Blood Collection Unit Given By Clubs

Collection of blood at a donor's home has been made possible by the recent gift of a mobile blood unit by Marin County Rotary Clubs to the Marin Blood Center in San Rafael.

Chairman of the project to obtain the mobile unit was Dr. John H. Manwaring, assisted by Rotarians Arthur Burns of aSn Rafael and James Rose of Novato.

Fully equipped and with a refrigerated unit, the mobile blood collector will operate on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The center at 506 Fourth Street is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The new unit will be staffed by center personnel and volunteer assistants.

Employment Office Places More Youths

More than 100 more students were placed in work in June than in May, states the San Rafael office of the state Department of Employment. Student labor was responsible for the increase in job placements in the county from 487 in May to 595 last month.

Unemployment insurance benefit payments totalled 915 per week, compared with 935 in May and 920 a week in June 1965.

New Officers Due

Tamalpais High School District trustees will elect new officers when they meet at 8 p.m. today at the district office. They will also be asked to approve a publication budget submitted by business director Frank Cassou.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDINANCE NO. 1526

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN AMENDING SECTION 22.44.090 OF THE MARIN COUNTY CODE WHICH AMENDMENT WOULD ADD A REQUIREMENT TO THE P-C DISTRICTS THAT ALL UTILITIES BE PLACED UNDERGROUND.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

All utility distribution facilities, (including, but not limited to, electric, communication and cable television lines) installed in and for the purpose of supplying service to any Development shall be placed underground, except as follows: Street lights and equipment normally installed on the surface which is appurtenant to underground facilities, such as surface-mounted terminal boxes and meter cabinets, concealed ducts and similar items.

The developer is responsible for complying with the requirements of this section, and shall make the necessary arrangements for the installation of said facilities.

All underground facilities, sanitary sewers and storm drains installed in streets, service roads, alleys or highways, shall be constructed prior to the surfacing of such street, service road, alley or highway. Service connections for all underground utilities and sanitary sewers shall be laid to such lengths as will obviate the necessity for disturbing the street or alley improvements when service connections thereto are made.

SECTION 2. This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty (30) days after the date of passage and approval and shall be published at least once in a newspaper published in the County before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the members voting for and against the same.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 5th day of July, 1966, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: SUPERVISORS: William A. Gnoss, Peter H. Behr, Thomas T. Storer, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, Byron W. Leydecker

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Good Oral Hygiene Eliminates Almost All Bad Breath Problems

VAN DELLEN

Ninety per cent of the odors in the breath originate in the mouth and good oral hygiene will eliminate most of the them. Thorough brushing of the teeth usually purifies the breath for two hours. Additional attention should be paid to removable dental prostheses.

It also is important to remove all food particles between the teeth with round toothpicks, Stim-U Dents, dental floss or a Water Pik. Electric toothbrushes are excellent for cleansing the ivories.

IF THIS does not dissipate the odor a complete dental examination is advisable. Cavities, severe periodontal disease (pyorrhea), and debris from food impacted between the teeth lead to halitosis. Dried saliva from mouth breathing also causes some odor.

A pocket of transverse indentation filled with decaying food may exist at the back of the tongue. This trap should be cleaned if halitosis exists. Food particles also collect in the crypts of the tonsils. Foul odors can originate in infections of the tonsils, sinuses, and nose.

THE CAUSE of the remaining 10 per cent usually is obvious because the individual has serious lung, stomach, or liver disorders. In these cases, halitosis is the least of his worries. Certain foods including pork, milk, butter fats, onion, garlic, and other spices also may cause bad breath.

Some persons have a complex about breath odors and are always gargling, brushing, or chewing gum or mints. Overuse of certain preparations damage the membranes of the nose and throat.

ON THE OTHER hand, foul breath may be a serious handicap, especially in those working in close contact with the public such as barbers, dentists, physicians, and beauticians.

For these individuals it could make the difference between success and failure. They must adhere to strict dental hygiene, see their dentist frequently, avoid tobacco and foods known to contribute to bad breath.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TISSUES

H. A. writes: In your article on mistreatment of the nose you did not mention the effects of smoking. Would you care to comment on this aspect?

REPLY

In my opinion, smoking should be taboo in the presence of disturbances of the upper air passages including the nose. Smoke is an irritant and may interfere with healing.

GIVE HIM TIME

D. C. writes: Should a very short 3-year-old boy be given injections to increase his height?

REPLY

Not unless there is a glandular deficiency. Otherwise injections may interfere with nature by disrupting the normal hormonal balance of the boy's system.

CORRECTING CROSS-EYE

Mrs. W. writes: Is there any chance that a weak eye muscle in a 5-year-old child can be strengthened by wearing glasses?

REPLY

Yes, but if good results are not evident within a reasonable time, a competent eye specialist should be consulted for more adequate treatment.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Court Considers Last Chance

In a recent case Mrs. Carr drove up to the stop sign and then started across a main street to park her car on the other side.

She drove her car very slowly so as to get to the parking spot easily. Along came a big bus a block away. It did not slow down and kept bearing down on Mrs. Carr. At the last minute the bus driver slammed on his brakes, but too late. It crushed Mrs. Carr's auto.

Mrs. Carr sued the bus company. The bus company proved that it had the right-of-way, and that Mrs. Carr was crossing the street much too slowly. In fact, she was blocking traffic just to reach her parking spot at the right angle.

The court agreed that Mrs. Carr was wrong. Nevertheless she could still collect damages from the bus company. The court ruled that the bus driver had the "last clear chance" to avoid the crash. He waited too long to apply his brakes when he could well have acted sooner and avoided the crash.

The rule of "last clear chance" keeps one person from taking advantage of another's negligence or dangerous predicament. It is similar to the rule that a person cannot intentionally injure another. Suppose you carelessly jay-walk across the street. A driver several blocks away who could swerve to avoid hitting you cannot just go on at his same speed and hit you, no matter how at fault you are.

For the rule of "last clear chance" to apply, one must show that the other person could have avoided the accident but didn't. Of course, perhaps the other person's quick action would not have saved the plaintiff. Or perhaps because of bad brakes or danger in swerving around the walker he really had no "last clear chance" to avoid the accident. In such cases the court is not likely to award damages to the plaintiff.

As a rule, if the injured person is "contributorily negligent," that is, if his own lack of care helps to bring on his own injury, the court will award him no financial recovery. This is true even though the plaintiff's fault is slight when compared with the defendant's. Still, the driver who has a chance to avoid an accident — no matter who is to blame — has a duty to do so.

Tap On Shoulder Is Followed By Punch In Face

Two youths were assaulted at a dance at the Santa Venetia armory Saturday night, according to reports made to the Marin County sheriff's office.

In both cases, a youth tentatively identified as "Carl Smith" tapped the victim on the shoulder from the rear and when they turned he punched them in the face, deputies reported.

Donald E. Ayers, 14, of Washington Avenue, Santa Venetia, reported at 9:55 p.m. that the youth called Smith struck him in the face. He received a cut lip.

Raymond T. Elliott of 159 Merrydale Road, San Rafael Meadows, reported the youth known as Carl Smith punched and kicked his son, Terry E. Elliott, 18, knocking out two front teeth.

World-Famous Whale Drowns In His Pen

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Namu, the gentle world-famed killer whale who became a motion picture star and a subject for many scientific studies, is dead.

Ted Griffin, who bought the 4½-ton, 20-foot whale from two Namu, B.C., fishermen and brought him to Seattle for a marine attraction, said the friendly beast had apparently drowned when he dove under a float at his waterfront pen and got caught in a net Saturday night.

Marin, Cities Share Auto License Fees

Marin County and its 11 incorporated areas have shared $1,525,985 in motor vehicle license fees collected by the state between last Dec. 1 and May 31, State Controller Alan Cranston has announced.

Distributions to incorporated areas totaled: Belvedere, $14,853; Corte Madera, $46,844; Fairfax, $42,131; Larkspur, $47,130; Mill Valley, $68,267; Novato, $155,101; Ross, $14,573; San Anselmo, $75,123; San Rafael, $180,238; Sausalito, $38,275; Tiburon, $34,790.

Altogether, the incorporated areas received for the period $717,330.

Activists Gain NAACP Spots

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four advocates of a more activist approach by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have been elected to four positions on its national nominating committee.

The four—who call themselves Young Turks—were elected Saturday at the conclusion of the NAACP's 57th annual national convention.

Elected were Mrs. Thelma Jackson, Los Angeles; Miss Delores Tucker, Philadelphia, Pa.; James Scott, Denver, and Dr. James Henderson, New Iberia, La.

A member of the "Young Turks," Norman B. Houston of Los Angeles, explained earlier that the elections would be a test of whether the NAACP wanted to take "a more activist approach" in the civil rights field.

For 6-year-olds and under: team eating, Gregg May and Kevin McSweeney; solo eating and seed spitting, Tammy Hand.

For 7-to-9-year-olds: team eating and seed spitting, Marilyn Tiner; solo eating, Brian McSweeney.

Tubercular Aide Exposes Pupils

LAS VEGSS, Nev. (AP) — Health officials say a tubercular teacher's aide exposed about 800 elementary school children to the disease.

Public Health Administator Otto Ravenholt said the teacher's aide worked with every teacher in the last four months of the school year.

"We don't know how many students were exposed, but we must assume they all were," said Ravenholt.

TO THOSE WHO HAVE RELATIVES IN CONVALESCENT HOSPITALS

We all know that convalescent hospitals fulfill a major need, but in many cases having a loved one confined there is a financial hardship.

Reduce your expense by directing that your convalescent hospital order all prescriptions and medical needs from our drug store.

You will effect real savings with Jack's Guaranteed-Low Prescription Prices. We will render a monthly statement to you or to the convalescent hospital, as you or they direct.

Try us just once, then you judge.

Sincerely,

William J. Meines

REUNION TEARS AND JOY

A four-year separation of Mrs. Haiss Yuan and her daughter, Peggy Yue-se Yuan, 4, ends at a Chicago airport. The mother arrived to meet the child Saturday from her home in Tulsa, Okla. The child was flown from Taipei, Formosa, where she was treated as an orphan since she was 20 days old. Parents and seven other children left Taipei in 1962, but the youngest did not have immigration clearance.

Friendly, Timid Monkey Escapes

Escape of the "friendly, but timid" monkey, named Tommy, was reported today by his anxious baby-sitter, Mrs. Esther Muelrath of 21 Linda Avenue, Santa Venetia. Mrs. Muelrath was taking care of the year-old simian while her son and daughter-in-law are on a week's hiking trip through the Sierras.

Tommy wore no collar to identify him, but "there won't be too many monkeys on the loose here," Mrs. Muelrath conceded. She asked that any person sighting the animal call her. "It might bite a stranger," she warned.

Coast Guard Scours Bay For Family

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fishing party of five — including two children — was missing today. Coast Guard aircraft and surface vessels searched in San Francisco Bay and outside the Golden Gate.

Francis Dudum, 28, owner of Nick's Broiler on Market Street in San Francisco and owner of the blue-hulled 14-foot outboard boat, took the party out at noon Sunday from Mission Rock Boat Center, South San Francisco.

Aboard with the boat owner were his daughter, Kathy, 5; his brother, Nader, 11; and two restaurant customers.

The Coast Guard had two cutters, two helicopters and two fixed wing aircraft searching the lower bay and, off the Gate, from Pacifica north to Duxbury Reed on the Marin coast.

It was not known whether the party ran into trouble inside the bay or sailed out into the ocean and something happened.

San Francisco Crash Injures Marinites

Four Corte Madera residents were treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for injuries suffered in an auto collision at 11th Avenue and Cabrillo Street, San Francisco.

Demonstrators Gather After Southern Melee

GRENADA, Miss. (UPI) — Negro demonstrators assembled slowly today for marches to two swimming places. A demonstration here yesterday was broken up by state police swinging billy clubs and gun butts.

Leon Hall, a field worker for Dr. Martin Luther King, was in charge of preparing the demonstrators for trips today to Grenada Lake, where little trouble is expected because it is located at a federal reservoir, and to the Kiwanis Club swimming pool.

Yesterday's courthouse incident followed the arrest Saturday night of two white men here on charges of taking pot shots at a federal official and two civil rights workers. Sheriff Suggs Ingram said formal charges would be filed today against B.C. Bennett of nearby Montgomery County and Bobby Todd of Grenada.

Both were held in the county jail, scene of yesterday's fracas, which apparently had no connection with the arrest.

Bandits Rob, Terrorize Millionaire

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (UPI) —Three armed bandits invaded the plush estate of millionaire philanthropist John Rimer last night, terrorized the family and guests and fled with $83,000 in cash and jewels.

Three suspects were arrested at gunpoint in a convertible with Michigan License plates speeding on a nearby expressway 27 minutes after Rimer telephoned police with a description of the getaway car.

Police said the gunmen entered the estate about sundown. Brandishing pistols, they herded Rimer, his wife, four guests and the housekeeper into a room of the brick and stucco villa. All but the 59-year-old millionaire were bound and gagged.

Then while the others watched in terror, the bandits first cajoled then beat him. When he refused to divulge where the jewelry was kept, they searched the house and found the cache.

Rezoning Talk Considered

The Novato Planning Commission will consider two rezoning matters and plans for two service stations when it metts at 8 p.m. today at the Community Center.

The city initiated rezoning from agricultural to residential of about four acres east of Eucalyptus Avenue between Center Road and Novato Boulevard in the Castle Wood subdivision.

The Scottsdale Co. seeks a change from planned residential to retail commercial zone for 6.5 acres on the northwest and southwest corners of Rowland and Scottsdale boulevards.

Plans for a Shell service station at Delong Avenue and a Gulf service station at Highway 101 and Olive Avenue will be considered.

A. L. Hopes To End N. L. Domination In All-Star Tilt

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The embarrassed American League, winner of only one of the last nine All-Star baseball games, is ready to go all out tomorrow against the favored National League's impressive array.

The National Leaguers have been taking bows for winning both the World Series and the All-Star Game in each of the last three years. Overcoming a 12-4 edge in the All-Star series once completely dominated by the American League, Willie Mays and Co. have taken the lead 18-17-1.

"I'll use my eight starters all the way if it will help us win," said Mele. "I'm going to win this one. We'll play to win."

In the old days it was common for most of the pitchers to work the Sunday previous to the game. That no longer is the case.

Five of the 16 pitchers were used yesterday but the only starters were Steve Barber of Baltimore on the American side and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia on the National side. Pete Richert of Washington, Claude Raymond of Houston and Phil Regan of the Los Angeles Dodgers were used in relief.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Right-hander Dennis McLain of Detroit and southpaw Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles were named today the starting pitchers for tomorrow's All-Star game.

Regan was a late addition to the staff. He was named by Alston to take the place of Bob Gibson when the St. Louis Cardinal ace came up with a sore elbow. Sam McDowell of Cleveland, who lasted less than an inning Sunday, also bowed out with a sore arm and was replaced by teammate Sonny Siebert. Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, the majors' top winners with a So did Gaylord Perry of San Francisco and Billy McCool of Cincinnati. Juan Marichal of San Francisco has rested since pitching a three-hitter for his 14th victory Friday. Bob Veale of Pittsburgh has not pitched since Thursday.

Three American League starters worked Saturday — Gary Bell of Cleveland, Catfish Hunter of Kansas City and Denny McLain of Detroit, the league's big winner with a 13-4 record. Jim Kaat of Minnesota and Mel Stottlemyre of New York were used Friday.

Both manager were scheduled to name their pitchers and batting orders at a morning news conference.

Alston, who had been undecided about coming to the game due to the illness of his mother, is expected to be on hand. If he cannot make it, Herman Franks of the league-leading San Francisco Giants will take his place.

Injuries struck the National League starting line-up, forcing Alston to replace second baseman Joe Morgan of Houston with switch-hitting Jim Lefebvre of his Dodger club. Morgan suffered a broken knee cap a week ago.

The Nationals have the majors' top home run hitter in Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves in the outfield along with marvelous Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh.

Willie McCovey of San Francisco at first base, Lefebvre at second, Leo Cardenas of Cincinnati at short, Santo at third and Joe Torre of Atlanta as catcher completed the power-packed starting line-up.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore, anxious to show the Nationals that Cincinnati made a mistake in trading him, will team with Detroit's Al Kaline and Minnesota's Tony Oliva in the American outfield.

Rookie George Scott of Boston at first base, Bobby Knoop of California at second, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit at short,

Injustice To A Great Shortstop

You have a more compelling reason than normal to get out to a National League ballpark these summer nights now—you have a chance to see one of the real immortals of our national game, Leonardo Lazara Cardenas.

Leonardo has been adjudged the best all-around shortstop in the league by a jury of his peers — the other 150 players in the loop.

THE REASON is eminently sound: Leonardo is only 25 stolen bases this year behind Maurice Morning Wills, another shorstop. Lifetime, Leo is only 397 behind Wills.

But, on the positive side of things, Cardenas is only about 40 points below Wills in batting, and he did lead the league last year in intentional bases-on-balls. That's one of Wills' most glaring shortcomings: He NEVER gets an intentional base-on-balls. In fact, the pitcher who gave him one would be fined and sent to Tacoma on the next bus. Giving Wills an intentional base-on-balls is like giving Babe Ruth a fat one over the heart of the plate. The next sound you hear will be a spike denting home plate.

OF COURSE, Cardenas does lead Wills in double plays. But this is one of the most misleading statistics in baseball. To get lots of double plays, you first need lots of baserunners. With the pitching staff Maury plays behind, shortstop can be the loneliest guy in the ballpark. About half the players in the league Maury hasn't seen up close in years Cardenas is on a first-name basis with a lot of players who never leave the batter's box when they play the Dodgers.

IT HAS BEEN claimed that Leonardo the Magnificent vastly overshadows Wills in home runs, even though Leonardo is still about 660 behind Babe Ruth in this category. But the facts of the matter are that Leo just deals in a different kind of home run than Maury. Leo's home runs are the old-fashioned kind that sail over the fence. Maury gets his home runs 90 feet at a time. Sometimes they take three or four or 10 minutes and they start off with a bunt.

THESE KIND of home runs earn you these things: Strawberry marks and internal bleeding in the hips and thighs, frequent swelling around the ankles —and the undying enmity of the opposing pitcher and, probably, the catcher, second baseman, shortstop and manager. Nobody loves a thief.

You have to think a lot of them got together and caught Maury Wills finally. The secret ballot has historically been a method of redressing wrongs in this country. This time it has perpetrated one.

IT'S A TYPICAL athlete's reaction to denigrate someone who has just publicly humiliated him. Interview a pug who just got knocked from pillar to post by Joe Louis and ask him who's the best he ever fought, and he will name some retired palooka he himself beat four times in his career. "He could hit much harder than Louis," he'll mumble — through puffed lips.

A hitter will come in the dugout and kick the water cooler just after striking out for the fourth time against Sandy Koufax and will snarl that there are five pitchers in the league who throw harder—and he will list five he's hitting .400 against.

IF LEO Cardenas is the best shortstop, Millard Fillmore was our greatest President. You have to be glad these guys aren't voting for Congress or it would be even worse than it is. They'd give the Academy Award to Mamie Van Doren.

For the first time in my life, I'm beginning to wonder if demorcacy works. When a journeyman ballplayer out-votes a sure Hall-of-Famer in his prime, you have to wonder how Lincoln ever got elected.

S.F. Lead Is Cut To One Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The National League schedule shows a new season after the All Star break for the San Francisco Giants.

By losing 2-1 yesterday to the Cincinnati Reds, the Giants' lead was shaved to one slim game over the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates. But the teams are even in the loss column. San Francisco is 54-33, Pittsburgh 52-33.

The Giants play next in Philadelphia on Thursday at the start of a short road trip. They'll play the Phils, the Pirates and the New York Mets three times each.

But the Pirates start a three-game series Thursday against last-place Chicago, making it 15 games in a row against either the Cubs or the ninth-place New York Mets.

In the last 12 games, the Pirates have won three from the Cubs while losing two and five from the Mets while losing three for an 8-4 record against the cellar clubs.

That was enough for the Reds to snap their 11-game losing streak, longest in the majors this year.

Working constantly in trouble, the Reds' Milt Pappas managed to survive the nine innings, giving up eight hits, but walking none.

A walk, a sacrifice bunt and a passed ball in the ninth off Linday McDaniel set up a pinch-hit, run-scoring single by Tony Perez off Bill Henry.

Twice the Giants got men to third with one out and failed to score. In the eighth, Willie Mays hit his first triple of the year with one out. He held third as Willie McCovey reached first on an error by shortstop Leo Cardenas.

Then, after fouling out five pitches on a 1-2 count, Cap Peterson struck out. Pappas got Len Gabrielson to fly out, ending the threat.

"The biggest play of the day was when I struck out Peterson," Pappas said afterward.

Peterson had doubled and singled in his two previous trips to the plate.

"The only fast balls I gave him were high and very tight," continued Pappas. "That's why he was fouling them off. Now, usually my slider doesn't work too well late in a game. But Don (catcher Pavletich) called for one and I threw it.

"It was two feet outside and bounced before it reached the plate," Pappas said. "But he swung at it."

JACK TRIUMPHS BUT

Doug Wins Fans

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — The man with the shortest swing left the longest memory after the British Open Golf Championship — even though he was a loser.

Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., one of the most colorful characters in the game, was short by three inches with a putt on the home green Saturday that would have tied the winning score of 282 shot by champion Jack Nicklaus, the Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio.

If that putt had gone in Sanders and Nicklaus would have played off over 18 holes for the title yesterday — and anything could have happened.

His 71-70-72-70—283 was the most consistent golf shot on the 72-hole test over the difficult Muirfield links. It wasn't only consistent, it was entertaining and it gave the golf addicts something to talk about until the next British Open.

How did he learn to do it that way?

"Well," said Sanders, who has a wisecrack for every occasion, "I began playing golf with my employer's clubs.

"He might have come back any minute, so I didn't have time to swing the club very far."

Sanders tied for second place along with Dave Thomas of Wales.

An official of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, which runs the open championship, confirmed that the shot was precisely 85 yards.

"The reason I know this," he said, "is that there is a bunker 15 yards nearer the green. I have been in this bunker something like 1,000 times and I know it is exactly 70 yards from the pin."

Sanders shrugged consolingly and told the official: "There's a simple answer to your game. Quit going in the bunker and start pitching into the hole."

Nicklaus now has won all the big, prestige tournaments.

Nicklaus won with a birdie 4 on the 17th in the final round Saturday. He had rounds of 70-

Nicklaus won with a birdie 4 on the 17th in the final round Saturday. He had rounds of 70-67-75-70 for his two-under-par 282 over the 6,887-yard Muirfield layout.

Ol' Bobo Olson Continues Comeback March Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former middleweight champion Bobo Olson tries to take a giant step up the light-heavyweight ladder tonight in a 10-rounder at San Francisco Civic Auditorium against European champion Piero Del Papa.

Olson will be celebrating his 38th birthday tonight with his 108th fight. His record is 90-15-2 while the Italian Del Papais 30-2-3.

Del Papa, ranked No. 2 by Ring magazine and eighth by the World Boxing Association, has an 11-year pull in age. But Olson, ranked ninth by the WBA, is given a good chance for an upset because Del Papa does not pack a powerful punch.

But while Del Papa has stopped or knocked out only 10 foes, he never has been stopped himself. Olson has been knocked out seven times.

Both are hoping for a convincing victory to carry on to a title shot against champion Jose Torres, who knocked out Olson two years ago in one round.

Del Papa won the European light-heavyweight crown March 11 with a15-round decision over Giulio Rinaldi. He also won an unpopular decision in Turin, Italy, last month over Clarance James of San Francisco, who put Del Papa down for an eight count in the fourth round.

Olson has not fought this year and only twice in 1965. He knocked out Fred Roots and outpointed Andy Kendall —both in Reno.

Surprise Move To Protest War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today its track and field and basketball teams will not play against the United States this year in protest of the United States' participation in the Viet Nam war, Tass of the official Soviet news agency reported.

The Soviet men's and women's track team was scheduled to meet the United States in Los Angeles July 23-24.

Tass said the two Soviet teams have refused to take part in the meets because of the war.

In addition to the Russians, a Polish men's and women's track team was scheduled to compete against the United States in Berkeley, Calif., July 16-17.

An earlier report from Warsaw said the Polish team was planning to leave Wednesday for California.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said that it had not been officially notified of the Soviet decision. The Embassy had no immediate comment.

Earlier, the Embassy had reported that about 100 Soviet track athletes had been granted visas for the United States. There had been no indication that the Russians would pull out.

The American basketball team of 13 players was due to come to Russia for a series of eight games, starting July 25 in Moscow. The team was to play here after games in East Europe.

An American men's and women's swimming team trounced Poland in a two-day meet that ended in Warsaw yesterday. The same N.S. team was scheduled to compete against the Russian swimmers and divers in Moscow next weekend.

In reply to a query, Tass said only Soviet-American contests were being cancelled. A five-nation swimming meet this weekend with 15 top Americans entered would go on as scheduled, Tass said.

Such decisions as the two teams reportedly took are made in this country only with Communist party approval — and often at party instigation.

Non-Communist observers saw the teams' decisions as part of the over-all Communist leadership's policy on Viet Nam rather than as the idea of the athletes.

Tass reported that the athletes met in the Moscow Chess Club today and passed a protest resolution.

It said:

"Our hatred for the American military who are perpetrating atrocities in Viet Nam and our solidarity with the people of Viet Nam, who are fighting for their freedom and independence, does not permit us to take part in a match with sportsmen of a country from which this aggression comes."

The resolution also said that war is the sworn enemy of youth and sports, Tass said.

"We cannot visit a country whose rulers are violating the elementary rules of humanity on our planet," Tass quoted Ter Ovanesyan as saying. The 25-year-old Olympian is a star broad jumper and captain of the Soviet track and field team.

Tamara Press, the Olympic women's shot put and discus champion and world record holderiin the events, was quoted by Tass as saying:

"We are not against meetings with American sportsmen. I profoundly believe that they also denounce the war in Viet Nam, but our conscience does not allow us to visit a country which carries death and devastation to millions of defenseless people."

Tass said applause greeted Valery Brumel, the Olympic high jump champion and world record holder, when he entered the hall on crutches. He was badly injured in a motorcycle accident some time ago.

Tass said Brumel emphasized "that the actions of the American aggressors in Viet Nam essentially repeated the atrocities of the Fascist invaders of the last war." Viktor Gurovn the president of the Soviet's track and field federation, said his organization would examine the statements of the sportsmen in the near future, Tass reported.

The American team was weakened by the strife between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association and by illness.

This year, with a truce enforced by a mediation board appointed to try and settle the differences between the two organizations, the Americans had mustered a powerful team that was expected to beat the Russians.

In Los Angeles, Stan Wright, coach of the United States team, said, "I am extremely disappointed. If the decision is final, I am shocked. I just couldn't believe it when I heard it. I'm sure the athletes will be disappointed."

Wright, of Southern University, said he had not considered the United States team the favorite for the meet. "I consider the Russians real tough. They've been doing pretty good. There are a lot of new faces, but the old faces are in the background. If they come here, and I hope they still do, they undoubtedly will have some of the old faces."

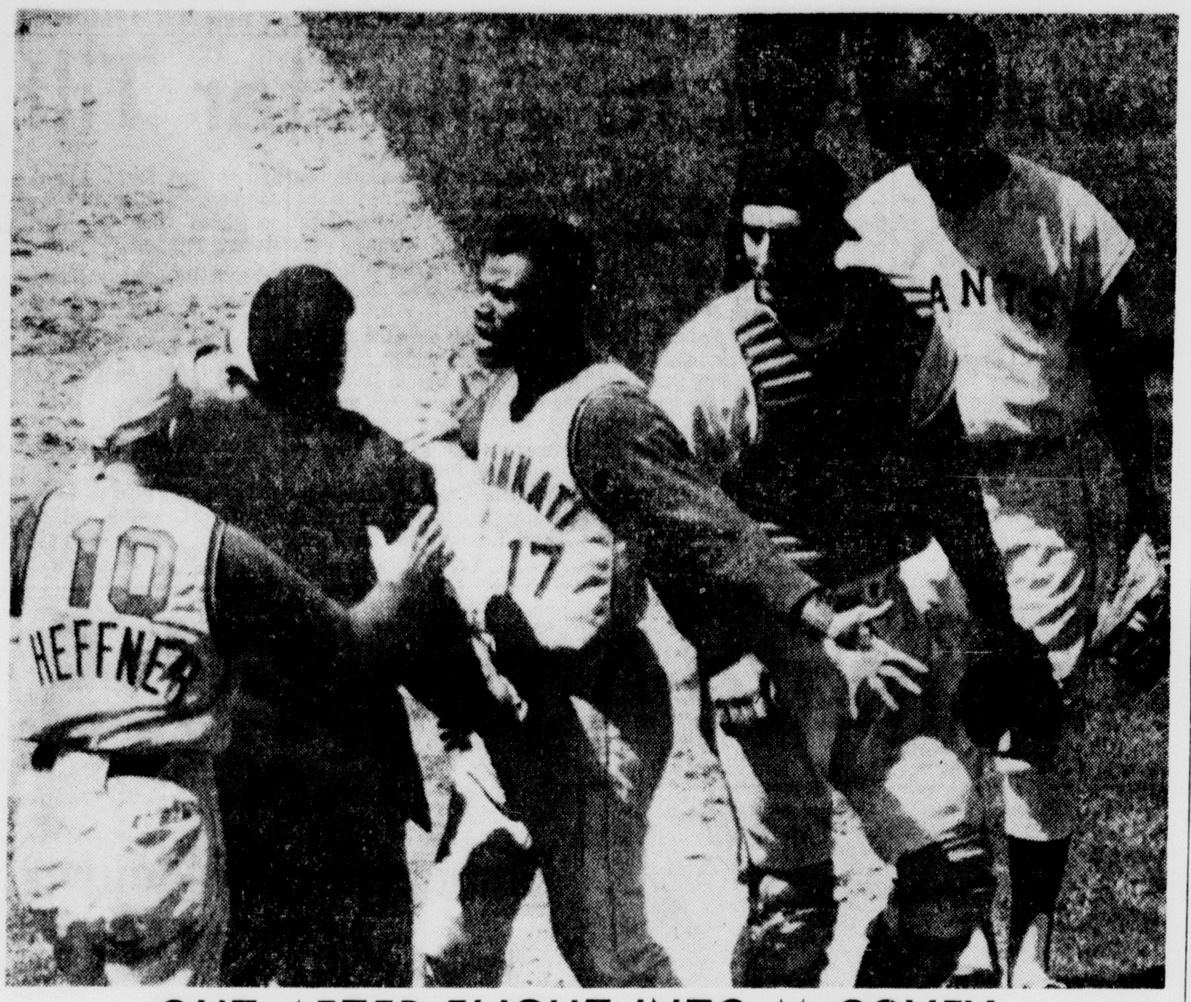
In New York, Capt. Steve Archer (USN, retired), the secretary of the A.A.U. in charge of the track, baskeball and swimming teams, said:

"I am shocked by the news. I know nothing about matters beyond the dispatches from Moscow. We have been trying to get Moscow on the telephone to find out what it is all about. Our basketball team left last night, and now, of course, that is up in the air, too."

BOOKIES PICK N.L. TO WIN

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Oddsmakers said today the National League is a 13-10 favorite for tomorrow's All-Star Baseball Game in St. Louis.



OUT AFTER FLIGHT INTO McCOVEY

Cincinnati's Tommy Harper (17) pleads with plate umpire Ed Vargo after Harper ran into Giant Willie McCovey on the foul side of third base line and was called out for obstruction. Bob Friend, Harry Walker Explode After Bucs Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran pitcher Bob Friend knows about pressure. But that extra squeeze put on by the Pittsburgh Pirates was just too much.

Friend, an ex-Pirate, became angry yesterday when the Pirates, leading by five runs in the eighth inning en route to a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets, tried to squeeze in another run. It backfired, but that didn't pacify Friend.

As he was leaving the field, Friend glared at the Pittsburgh dugout and shouted, "That's bush stuff, trying a squeeze when you're five runs ahead."

Pirates' Manager Harry Walker shouted back, and he and Friend started toward each other but were restrained.

After the game, Walker said, "Whenever the club I'm playing gives up and quits, that's when I intend to stop trying to score runs. Baseball is played to win, and that's all I have to say."

The Cincinnati Reds helped Manager Don Heffner pass an acid test by ending an 11-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Following the victory, the 55-year-old Heffner chewed two tablets which absorb stomach acid and said, "My stomach's been jumping for 55 years. But this (the slump) hasn't helped any."

Atlanta edged Los Angeles 2-0, the Chicago Cubs blasted Philadelphia 10-2 and Houston nipped St. Louis 6-5 in other National League games.

In the American League, California blanked Baltimore 4-0, Minnesota beat Detroit 4-2, Boston took the Chicago White Sox 8-4 and 10-6, Kansas City whipped Cleveland 4-1 and 5-3 and Washington defeated the New York Yankees 3-2 and 9-2.

The Pirates broke a 4-4 tie with their five-run eighth, Roberto Clemente's single driving in the go-ahead run. After all the runs had scored, Friend relieved Bob Shaw. With a runner on third and two strikes on the batter, Elroy Face, the Pirates' pitcher, tried the squeeze, but Face missed the ball for a strike out and the runner was caught off third.

Ernie Banks was the big man in the Cubs' triumph over Philadelphia, driving in five runs with three hits. Southpaw Dick Ellsworth picked up his fifth victory against 12 defeats, with Jim Bunning taking the loss.

Rusty Staub hit a pair of homers, the second one with a man on in Houston's three-run eighth, as the Astros beat the Cardinals in 104-degree weather at St. Louis.

Reds Finally End Losing Streak: 11

By RON BERGMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati manager Don Heffner had just celebrated the end of the longest losing streak in the majors this season by taking two white tablets which, when chewed, absorb stomach acid.

"My stomach's been jumping for 55 years," said Heffner, born Feb. 8, 1911, at Rouzerville, Pa. "But this hasn't helped."

"One game out of 12," Heffner mused. "I would say it certainly won't hurt anything. But we need much more than that. One game won't straighten us out."

Milt Pappas, the right-handed pitcher who came to Cincinnati from Baltimore in exchange for power-hitting Frank Robinson, struggled through the nine innings for his eighth victory in 14 decisions.

The Reds hardly knocked down the Candlestick fences, getting six hits to the Giants' eight. Tommy Harper's double and a single by Vada Pinson scored a run in the first inning. Tony Perez singled in the other run in the ninth following a walk, sacrifice and passed ball.

"All I could think of before coming out to pitch the ninth was a vision of a couple of guys getting on and someone hitting it out for a three-run homer or something," Pappas said. "But then I started thinking, what the hell, that can't happen because everything has happened to us already."

Ozzie Virgil, the first batter in the ninth, homered over the right-field fence for the Giants' only run. But Pappas, as he had all afternoon, bore down. He got the last three batters in order.

A.L. Hopes To End National's Domination

Brooks Robinson of Baltimore at third and Bill Freehan of Detroit as catcher are the other starters.

Brooks Robinson's 70 runs batted in top the majors and Frank Robinson and Kaline are tied for the league home run lead with 21.

All starters, except pitchers, must play at least three innings. No pitcher can go more than three, unless the games goes into extra inning.

The game will be carried on national (NBC) television starting at 11 a.m., PDT.

Players are straggling in from all points on makeshift schedules due to the airplane strike. Special planes are ready if unexpected emergencies develop.

Casey Stengel, who with Ted Williams will be honorary coaches, had transportation problems in California. Walter O'Malley, owner of the Dodgers, gave up the plane reservations he and his wife were holding, to permit Casey and Regan to make the trip.

St. Louis expects a capacity crowd of close to 50,000 in new Busch Memorial Stadium and the weather man promises to make it hot.

Litchfield's Wins Tourney Tilt, 11-10

Following five hours of play and a total of 31 safeties, Litchfield's of San Rafael won its third game in the State Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament last Saturday. After a 9-0 forfeit win over the Pleasant Hill team last week the Litchfield team faced Crolls, emerging the victor in a close 11-10 contest.

Grand Junction, Colo., is the next stop for the team, which will leave via chartered bus Thursday night from Burmuda Palms Motel. The team will face the Grand Junction Eagles in a three-game practice series and then return home to play a tournament rematch with the San Jose Gagliardi Brothers nine on July 20 at Albert Field. Litchfield's already defeated the San Jose team 10-1 at their first meeting.

With a 5-0 score in the sixth inning of Saturday's game, Litchfield's moved into the lead with six runs, only to have Crolls push back to the top with two runs in the top of the seventh. Trailing 7-6 at the bottom of the seventh, Ron Gasper walked and was singled to third by Barry Krohn. After a safe bunt by Paul Giambra to load the bases and with two outs, Jess Jacinto singled two runners home to set the San Rafael team ahead for the second time.

Litchfield's added to their lead in the eighth as Rich Jeffries singled and stole second. Trailing in a 10-7 game, Crolls scored with two doubles. Dave Aldrich, fifth Litchfield hurler, hit one home and for the fourth time the lead changed hands. With the bases loaded, Doug Wilson shot a single over shortstop giving Litchfield's the victory.

This week's pair of victories brought the club's record to 28 wins and 3 losses and made Litchfield's one of the five remaining clubs in the tournament in which sixteen entrants began.

San Rafael Fisherman Hopes For Big Prize

Fishermen's proverbial "big one that got away" wasn't so lucky a few weeks ago when Bill Winterburn of San Rafael hauled in a 560-pound black marlin in Panama. What's more, Bill stands to win a brand new Cadillac if his "big one" tops all other entries in the annual billfish tournament sponsored by Panama's Club de Pesca. So far Winterburn's catch is the biggest.

The Cadillac is awarded at the end of the summer to the fisherman with the entry totaling the most points in the contest. Points are given pound for pound for heavy tackle, with a 30 per cent bonus for using medium gear, and a 100 per cent bonus for a catch on light tackle.

Winterburn's billfish totaled 728 points, including a 169 point bonus for using 80-pound test line (medium tackle). Heavy, 130-pound test linei s usually used for a catch like Winterburn'sand light tackle for anything up to 50 pound test.

But no fishing trip would be complete without at least one "big one that got away" and Winterburn lost his big one too. He explains that he fought an even larger marlin for five hours, 40 minutes but he finally lost his fish on a broken leader. The 560-pounder put up a two and one-half hour fight.

Last year, Australian Bob Dyer took the Cadillac home for a 466-pound catch on medium gear, so Winterburn is fairly optimistic he will be a new Cadilac owner in September.

Winterburn, who is executive vice president of the Pacific Coast Title Company of Marin in San Rafael, was the former owner of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop. Bill owned the store from 1946 until he sold out in 1951.

After selling the shop, Winterburn went into the Marin real estate business and made his way to his busy executive position. Now, Winterburn explains, he makes one big fishing trip each year.

Winterburn also caught a 24-pound dolphin that gives him the lead in the light tackle competition at the club, but Bill is sure someone will top his dolphin catch before the contest closes Sept. 30.

Winterburn, who has also fished in Peru, Hawaii, and Mexico was excited about his Panama fishing. "I've never seen anything like Panama fishing," he exclaimed. A 560-pound black marlin and a chance at a new Cadillac would excite any fisherman.

Richey Pair Win Tennis Tournament

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Three tennis players who dominated the action yesterday at the Western Tennis Tournament in Indianapolis were to report for the National Clay Court Championships here.

Officials said the airline strike was interferring with travel communications, but expected no delay in opening matches.

Richey's sister, Nancy, 23, won the Indianapolis women's singles. She and Ralston, a Californian who is the nation's leading Davis Cup player, are the top seeds in the Milwaukee Tournament.

Jeff Bannister Wins Pentathlon

Bannister, representing the Gorham A.C., won the 1,500 meter run in 4:22.3, placed second in the discus and 200-meter dash, third in the javelin and fifth in the broad jump in capturing the title Saturday.

Emerson Wins

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Australian Roy Emerson defeated countryman Fred Stolle 7-5, 6-1 for the men's singles title in an international lawn tennis tournament Sunday.

Raiders Begin Early Workouts

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—The Oakland Raiders have begun two-a-day workouts at the El Rancho Motel training camp here.

New head coach John Rauch got his first look yesterday at the results of two trades that brought three new faces into the Raiders camp to join the 40 rookies and veterans.

Dixon was involved in the club's only off - season swap, coming from the Denver Broncos in exchange for linebacker Archie Matsos.

The Raiders may convert the 6-2, 235 pound Dixon from tight end to fullback. He played part-time as a halfback two years ago at Denver, but was used exclusively as a receiver last season.

Keating and Flint are the end result of the mid-season trade that sent Bo Roberson to the Buffalo Bills.

Former coach Al Davis, now commissioner of the American Football League, made the trade. He stipulated that Keating, who tore up a knee early in the campaign, and another player would be given to Oakland for 1966.

They picked Flint, a 6-4, 248-pound reserve guard, who will now be fighting for the left guard starting assignment that opened when Miami drafted Ken Tice off the Raider roster.

Keating, who has recovered from knee surgery, will be tried as a defensive lineman. The 6-2, 247 pound former Michigan star can play either end or tackle.

Rauch expects nearly 60 players in camp by Friday.

Softballers Triumph In Twin Bill

Sohner Tree Service softballers moved a little closer to a second place finish in the AAA North Coast Traveling League by sweeping a pair of games from fourth-place Hayward at Albert Park Saturday night.

The San Anselmo team pounded the injury-riddled Hayward pitching staff for 25 hits and 28 runs. The scores were 12-4 and 16-3.

Sohner meets Hamilton Field in a 6 p.m. doubleheader tonight at the Air Force Base. Dave Shallenberger, a veteran of several World Tournaments and a former Sohner hurler, has rejoined the team and will make his first start in tonight's second game.

The wins over Hayward give Sohner an 11-7 NCTL record and a one-game lead over third-place Concord. Undefeated Rector Motors of San Mateo has clinched the title.

Leading hitter for Sohner was catcher Jess Munyon with four hits including a three-run homer in the nightcap. Six players—Ron McCamish, Ed Schulze, Milt Hain, Ron Jerome, Ken Cuneo and Keith Fraser—had three hits for the winners.

The sweep gives Sohner a 38-13 season record.

Warriors Name Assistant Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Lee, for five years a National Basketball Association player, has been named assistant coach of the San Francisco Warriors.

The appointment was announced Saturday by the Warriors. Head coach Bill Sharman said Lee would expand his scouting duties and also will be used to study game films.

Lee, who played his last three years with the Warriors, went into scouting last season. He will be only the second assistant coach in the league.

FOOTBALL IN JULY

Texas Quarterback Leads West To All-Star Triumph

ATLANTA (AP) — Randy Johnson is getting better all the time, but the rangy Texan says his biggest football challenge is still ahead.

"I never dreamed I would be where I am now," the Texas A&I quarterback said after he guided the West to a 24-7 conquest of the East in the Coaches All-America game. "Now my big challenge comes when I join the Falcons."

Johnson was named the game's Most Valuable Player after he connected on 24 of 38 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns, and scored once himself on a three-yard sprint.

"I was named the outstanding back in the Senior Bowl, and the Most Valuable Player in the Blue-Gray game," Johnson added. "But this was the best of all."

"He sure can throw the football, and he can see everywhere," Hecker said. "I don't think I'll trade him."

Johnson was to report to the Falcons' training camp over the weekend but will spend only four days there before going to Chicago to start preparations for the All-Star game.

"I can't believe I've gotten where I am," Johnson said, "but I still know pro football is going to be the toughest thing I've ever done."

Johnson's play in the All-America game was no fluke. He had completed 20 passes in both of his previous All-Star tests, and his latest showing came despite a back injury he suffered the first time he was tackled.

"It hurt a lot and I could hardly talk," Johnson said. "It made me real glad that I wasn't playing for the East, because I've never seen people hit on defense like our West team did."

Standouts for the West included aother Falcon rookie, linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas, and Carl McAdams of Oklahoma,a linebacker headed for the New York Jets.

Donny Anderson, the $600,000 bonus hopeful of the Green Bay Packers, was an offensive standout for the West, catching six passes for 54 yards and one touchdown, and gaining 20 yards running on 20 carries.

Teammate Mike Garrett of Southern Cal, who has signed with the Kansas City Chiefs in the American Football League was the game's top runner with 28 yards on nine tries.

Steve Sloan of Alabama, the East quarterback who will challenge Johnson for the job of quarterbacking the Falcons, gained 135 yards passing on 15 completions in 28 tosses, but lost 66 yards rushing when he was unable to get his aerials away.

Ken Rosewall Wins $10,000 Net Tourney

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Ken Rosewall rallied from an opening round defeat to cash in on his smooth ground game and win the $10,000 Casino Pro Tennis Tournament.

Rosewall and fellow Australian Mal Anderson tied at 87 points at the end of yesterday's championship round-robin finale. It took two 8-point playoff games to give Rosewall the nod.

Rosewall, Anderson, Rod Laver, Australia, and Andres Gimeno, Spain, qualified for the finale by having the highest point total for the previous three days of the tournament, being scored under VASSS (Van Alen Simplified Scoring System).

Rosewall opened the round-robin badly, losing to Anderson 31-25. Then he defeated Gimeno 31-23 and Laver 31-23 to gain the tie.

To break the tie, VASSS calls for an 8-point game, with the first player to reach 5 points the winner. Anderson took a 4-2 lead in the first game, but Rosewall tied it 4-4 forcing the second game. Rosewall won the second game 5-3.
